MEDIA SERVICES DIRECTORY

SILVERDOME PRESS BOX

The working area for writers, broadcasters and overhead photographers is located on the Club Level between the south and west corners of the stadium. The facility can accommodate over 150 media representatives in the upper press area and contains 15 booths in the lower area for radio, television, photographers, public address and scoreboard operations.

CREDENTIALS

All applications must be made through the Lions Public Relations Office. Credentials are available to working members of the media only. Advance notification of requests is appreciated. Season credentials will be issued to appropriate outlets. Since no Press Will Call window is available due to the need for a parking pass to gain press lot access, most credentials and parking passes are mailed. Please allow AT LEAST three days for mail delivery. Credentials can be left at a local hotel for pickup on game day. That hotel is the Northfield Hilton, which is located eight miles south of the Silverdome off I-75 at the Crooks Road exit. The Northfield Hilton front desk is used as a credential pickup point when requests are made too late to guarantee mail delivery.

PARKING

A parking pass is required to enter the press parking area, located on the southwest side of the Silverdome. Enter Gate 1 from Opdyke Road and proceed to the press parking area adjacent to the Press Box. Press parking is not automatically issued to every credentialed member of the media covering the game because of an insufficient number of parking passes and spaces.

SERVICES

Statistical information is distributed before, during and after the game. Spotters and statisticians are available to radio and TV crews upon advance request. Food and beverages for the working media are available in the Press Lounge. Your game credential entitles you to the buffet meal that is served prior to the game. The Lions' Public Relations staff is here to help. If you need assistance, don't hesitate to ask any of the PR persons shown below.

ADMINISTRATION AND COACHING STAFF

WILLIAM CLAY FORD

Owner and President

William Clay Ford, the Detroit Lions' Owner and President, is a mixture of two sporting adages when it comes to the Lions. One is the Englishman's saying from yesteryear: "It doesn't matter if you win or lose, it's how you play the game." The other slogan was popularized by the late Vince Lombardi: "Winning isn't everything, it's the only thing."

"My approach is a little of both," Mr. Ford admits. "So I guess it would be nice to think winning is the only thing in pro football, but of course it isn't. On the other hand, how you play the game is not necessarily fulfilling when the team isn't winning."

An unabashed fan when the Lions take the field, Mr. Ford says he "rides an emotional roller coaster" watching games. "Torture. You go through every ride in the park," he adds.

The 1985 season was a satisfying one for Bill Ford even though the won-loss ledger was below .500 at 7-9. The Lions defeated four playoff teams in the Pontiac Silverdome enroute to a 6-2 record at home, but much of the major enjoyment for the Lions' owner centered around the club's new coach, Darryl Rogers: "I liked the way the team responded to Darryl," said Mr. Ford. "He brought a togetherness back to the organization. The players played very hard in 1985, it was a good sign. He walked into a difficult situation, one that was wrought with injuries to some of the top players on the team, and he just guided the team out there every week, without alibiing. I thought we played competitively and I feel we're going to improve greatly over the next few seasons."

In 22 years as Lions' owner, the team has produced seven winning seasons and three .500 years. On three occasions the Lions have made the playoffs during that span. "We want a year-in, year-out contending team, one that has the capability of going to the Super Bowl every season," adds Mr. Ford. "It has been a long wait for all of us to see the Lions return as one of pro football's best teams, and there will be no letup in trying to achieve that goal."

Bill Ford always has been known as the most competitive of the Fords, particularly in athletics. As a young man in the Naval Air Corps, he completed 25 weeks of some of the most difficult physical requirements that any U.S. military branch requires, including rigorous tests in swimming, running, boxing, wrestling and on the obstacle course. Testing was done in terms of strength, speed and endurance and Mr. Ford finished first in his class.

Upon his military discharge, he enrolled at Yale University and eventually captained both the tennis and soccer teams at the Ivy League School. He was a nationally ranked tennis player until two achilles tendon surgeries regulated him to the sidelines. Just in the last few years Mr. Ford has resumed the sport, but in the meantime, golf has become his major participation sport, a game in which he became a scratch performer.

In 1980 Mr. Ford was named to the Office of Chief Executive of the Ford Motor Company, where he has been on the Board of Directors since 1948 and also serves as Chairman of the Board's Executive Committee. As a member of the Chief Executive Office, he is one of four executives who share responsibility for general management of the auto company that has produced 35 million vehicles on the world's roads daily.

Mr. Ford also serves as a member of Ford's Organization Review and Nominating Committee, the Finance Committee, the Policy and Strategy Committee and is chairman of the Design Committee.

Automobile design long has been a source of great pride to Mr. Ford. On his way to his present vice chairmanship of the company, he gained special satisfaction as the executive in charge of the design, development, and subsequent introduction of the Continental Mark II, the successor to the classic Lincoln Continental that had been developed and introduced by his father, the late Edsel Ford, in 1939. In fact, he was in charge of Ford's overall product design from 1956 to 1980.

The youngest of Edsel Bryant Ford's four children (after brothers Henry Ford II, the late Benson Ford and sister Josephine Clay Ford), William Clay Ford grew up in the automobile industry pioneered by his grandfather Henry Ford, founder of the Ford Motor Company in 1903. He attended Detroit University School in Grosse Pointe, Mich., and Hotchkiss School in Lakeville, Conn. He graduated from Yale with a Bachelor of Science degree in economics following his U. S. Navy tour of duty. He then joined Ford's sales and advertising staff and later served on the industrial relations staff where he was a member of the committee that negotiated the historic 1949 contract with the UAW-CIO.

Mr. Ford's involvement with the Detroit Lions goes back to his boyhood when his father took him to the University of Detroit Stadium to see the first Lions' team play in their maiden season in the Motor City in 1934. He became a club director in 1956 and succeeded Edwin J. (Andy) Anderson as Lions' President in 1961. Mr. Ford purchased the team outright for $4.5 million in November of 1963 and officially took over the club on Jan. 10, 1964.

Says NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, "Bill Ford has provided stable local leadership to the Lions' franchise over two decades. In addition, Bill played a key role in securing Super Bowl XVI for the state of Michigan, the first time that the Game was played in a northern area."

Mr. Ford's 22 previous Lions' teams have had their share of high moments. The 1969 through '75 teams all finished in second place in the NFC Central Division, with a high-water win-loss mark of 10-4 in 1970. Those were the years when the NFC Central was known as pro football's "black and blue" division and competition within the division was pro football's fiercest. The '80 and '81 teams also finished in second place, and the 1983 club captured the NFC Central championship. It was the '70, '82 and '83 Lions' teams that qualified for the post-season playoffs, and those squads were involved in strange occurrences. The '70 team lost to Dallas by the baseball score of 5-0, and the '82 squad was routed by eventual Super Bowl champion Washington, 31-7, while the '83 team lost a heartbreaking 24-23 game when a last second field goal in San Francisco just barely sailed wide right.

Mr. Ford oversaw the Lions' move from Tiger Stadium to metropolitan Pontiac and the sparkling, 80,000-plus seat Pontiac Silverdome. He then led the spirited effort that brought Super Bowl XVI to the Silverdome in January of 1982. Certainly both of those events also have been career highlights.

William Clay Ford, Jr.
Treasurer

In addition to Ford Headquarters and the Lions, Mr. Ford is Chairman of the Board of the Edison Institute, which operates Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn; is a trustee of the Eisenhower Medical Center; and a Board of Directors member for the Boys' Club of America, the National Tennis Hall of Fame in Newport R.I., the United Foundation of Detroit, and the Economic Club of Detroit.

He is married to the former Martha Firestone of Akron, Ohio, and they are the parents of three daughters — Martha, Sheila and Elizabeth — and a son, Bill Jr., who in addition to serving the Lions as club treasurer, is a graduate of MIT's prestigious Sloan School of Business. Bill Jr. and his wife Lisa, and their one-year-old daughter Eleanor Clay, have accepted a new assignment for Ford Motor Company, and were transferred to Brentwood, England, a suburb of London, in July where Bill Jr. will serve the company as director of Marketing for Commercial Vehicles. He formerly worked as planning manager in the small car import planning office in Dearborn.

The Detroit Lions' team colors, Honolulu Blue and Silver, were selected more than 50 years ago by then-Lions' Owner George A. Richards.

RUSS THOMAS

Executive Vice President and General Manager

The man sitting behind the general manager's desk in professional football often catches the heat when times are tough, but rarely does he feel a pat on the back when the good times roll. Russ Thomas, who first came to Detroit as a player 40 years ago, accepts his position with a simple statement: "The heat comes with the job."

Indeed it does, but no one would like to see the Lions earn a Super Bowl trophy more than Russ Thomas. In fact, that elusive prize weighs heavily on his mind.

"Winning," he firmly states, "is paramount. One goal that has been elusive for the Lions is the Super Bowl. We've been close to the mountain top but have never quite gotten there."

Getting there is Thomas' quest, and the fond memory of three NFL championships in the 1950s continues to whet his appetite. Two playoff appearances in the past four years, including the NFC Central Division title in 1983, have been flirtations with more glory.

Certainly no one is better prepared or more experienced than the Lions' Executive Vice President and General Manager to help guide the course. In portions of five decades with the Lions, Russ has been a player, scout, assistant coach, broadcaster, player personnel director — and the boss.

A Griffithsville, W.Va. native, Thomas began etching his football resume playing both ways at tackle for Ohio State, including one year under then Buckeye Coach Paul Brown. Thomas was All-Big Ten during his career, and was an All-America selection in 1944 when OSU won the national championship. He lettered three years in football, twice in track and once in wrestling.

His long affiliation with the Lions began with the 1946 NFL draft. Again, Thomas was a 60-minute tackle. He was named All-Pro his rookie season, and he captained the 1949 Lions. However, a knee injury cut short a promising career (1946-49), although the injury eventually led to new challenges for Russ off the field.

He earned coaching stripes from 1950-51 as the offensive and defensive line coach at St. Bonaventure under former Lions' assistant Joe Bach. But the low pay as a college assistant coach led Russ back to Detroit during the off-seasons where he pursued private business interests.

"I had a chance to go to the Steelers as an assistant when Joe was named head coach there in 1952," recalled Thomas. "But I was in business in Detroit and hated to leave. Then, the call came from the Lions." The call came from Lions' Head Coach Buddy Parker, who was on the threshold of building a decade of Lions' dominance in the NFL.

Thomas was hired to be an assistant coach in the fall of '52, but more importantly, he also was hired to scout college prospects and Lions' opponents. Long before the advent of film exchanges and computers, it was Thomas' scouting reports that helped bring Detroit NFL titles in 1952, '53 and '57.

Mr. Thomas continued

The rest of his story reads like a Lions' Who's Who. In the early 1960s he teamed with the legendary Van Patrick on telecasts of Detroit's games, and also co-hosted "Lions' Preview," a weekly TV program that previewed the upcoming game.

Russ was promoted to the front office as director of player personnel following William Clay Ford's outright purchase of the club in early 1964. The job not only utilized his skills in recognizing college talent and heading up the team's draft, but he also handled player contract negotiations, a task he continues to handle today.

Thomas' rise to the top of Lions' management hit high gear in 1967 when he was named Vice President and General Manager, handling the day-to-day operations of the organization. He was appointed Executive Vice President and General Manager in 1972.

Among his many off-the-field contributions was playing a key role in the approval and construction of the Pontiac Silverdome. Russ led the effort to bring Super Bowl XVI (1982) to the Lions' home, the first and only time the NFL's championship game has been ventured to a northern clime.

Thomas has come a long way since his days as one of West Virginia's most sought-after athletes (Russ also was his state's shot and discus record-holder). He was voted into the West Virginia Hall of Fame in 1983.

Today, Russ and his wife, Dorothy, live in Walled Lake. They are the parents of two grown sons, John and Jim, and they have one granddaughter.

DARRYL ROGERS

Head Coach and Director of Football Operations

The record of the Detroit Lions in 1985, 7-9, does not necessarily speak for itself, nor does it tell the true story of the job Darryl Rogers did in his first season as head coach of the Detroit Lions.

Rogers, who turned 52 in May, took over a pro team in February of '85 after 20 years as a head coach in college football. Did coaching against some of his intra-fraternity heroes daunt him? The record shows that it didn't.

In fact, through a schedule quirk that had the Lions playing the Dallas Cowboys, Miami Dolphins and Minnesota Vikings all in the same season last fall, Rogers accomplished something that has taken many pro head coaches years to achieve — wins in the same season over Tom Landry, Don Shula and Bud Grant, coaching legends in their own time. And he added Bill Walsh's scalp with a win over the 49ers, Super Bowl champions in two of the previous four Super Bowls that were played prior to '85.

Shula and Landry rank Nos. 2-3 among all-time winningest NFL coaches (entering 1986), and Grant retired as the sixth winningest coach in league history. Rogers' Lions defeated the Cowboys in Week 2 a year ago, 26-21, and avenged a final-play loss at Minnesota in Week 9 by whipping the Vikings in a rematch at the Silverdome in Week 11, 41-21.

And in October the Lions became the first NFL team to ever defeat the previous year's two Super Bowl combatants on successive weekends at home when they defeated the 49ers, 23-21, in Week 7, and followed that with a 31-21 victory over the defending AFC champion Dolphins in Week 8.

Despite the modest seven wins rung up by the '85 Lions, the club was 6-2 at home (and 6-0 until a final-play loss to Green Bay in Week 15). And the seven victories represented as many or more wins in his maiden season as coach than all but two of the previous 15 Lions' head coaches achieved in their first year running the Lions.

And Rogers rebounded the club from a 4-11-1 '84 performance without many key players who were lost to injuries, players such as Billy Sims, Doug English, Wilbert Montgomery, Jeff Chadwick, Chris Dieterich and Mike Cofer, gone for all or major portions of the '85 schedule. In fact, the Lions had a total of 13 players who were counted upon to be starters miss a total of 91 games last fall.

As a college head coach, Rogers compiled a 20-year win-loss record of 129-84-7, starting in 1965 as the first-ever head coach at Hayward State College in Hayward, Calif.

Following just one year there, he was named head coach at his alma mater, Fresno State, in 1966, then moved to San Jose State in 1973, to Michigan State in 1976, and Arizona State in '80. In each location, Rogers and his staff had winning traditions.

The seven-year Fresno State record was 43-32-1 and Rogers took the Bulldogs to the Camelia Bowl in '68 and the Mercy Bowl in '71. His first FSU squad was a surprising 7-3, and he averaged six wins a season.

At San Jose State from 1973-75, Rogers' teams finished 5-4-2, 8-3-1, and 9-2, a fast rebuilding job for a school that had not finished above .500 in any year in the previous decade. The success story included an unprecedented national ranking in 1975 (No. 15 according to UPI, No. 20 by AP).

What made the turnaround remarkable was San Jose State was playing only two home games a season then.

Rogers' success didn't go unnoticed and when the once-proud but probation-scarred Michigan State program beckoned in 1976, Darryl moved to East Lansing. Following a 4-6-1 first year, the Spartans jumped to 7-3-1 in 1977 despite a sanction-saddled situation, and Rogers was named the Big Ten Coach-of-the-Year.

Even better things came in '78 when MSU finished 8-3 and earned a Big Ten co-title with Michigan. The Spartans also defeated the Wolverines in Ann Arbor, 24-15, to become the first team other than Michigan or Ohio State to win a Big Ten crown in 11 years.

Along the way, Rogers' teams began rewriting offensive record books. The '78 Spartans averaged 523 yards per game and 41 points per contest, startling the previously ground-oriented conference. Both figures were MSU and Big Ten marks at that time. Rogers' offensive style very much was a harbinger of things to come in the Big Ten as many conference teams since then have switched to more wide-open, pass-oriented offenses.

The 1978 season also brought the Spartans a No. 12 national ranking and Rogers was named national Coach-of-the-Year by The Sporting News.

He jumped from the frying pan into the fire in '80 when he agreed to assume the reins of the controversy-marred Arizona State program that soon became probation sentenced.

Undaunted by the factionalism that surrounded the dismissal of popular, long-time head coach Frank Kush, Rogers immediately took the Sun Devils to consecutive 7-4, 9-2 and 10-2 records with decidedly different teams. His 1981 club produced 35.8 points and 498.7 yards per game and the team's total yardage output of 5,486 yards led the nation while also setting a new Pac-10 Conference standard.

His 1982 team then turned to defense to win 10 games with the nation's stingiest unit — allowing just 228.9 yards per game. The Sun Devils' tenth win that year came in the Fiesta Bowl, 32-21, over Oklahoma. It was the first time a Pac-10 team had led the nation in defense.

Rogers is a native Californian from Los Angeles who grew up in Long Beach, where he attended Jordan High School and City College before enrolling at Fresno State. An all-league receiver in high school and junior college, Darryl played at Fresno State while participating in a work-scholarship program, holding down a warehouse job. He was the No. 2 ranked small college pass receiver in the nation as a junior with 33 receptions.

A U.S. Marine Corps veteran, Rogers holds bachelor's and master's degrees in physical education from Fresno State. He and his wife Marsha have three daughters — Jamie, Keely and Stacy. Rogers also serves the Lions' organization as Director of Football Operations.

THE COACHING STAFF

Bob Baker • OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

The one-time head coach of the Canadian Football League's Calgary Stampeders (1974-76), Bob Baker came to the Lions a year ago as offensive coordinator and tutor of the team's quarterbacks following two years as the quarterback coach of the Los Angeles Rams (1983-84). He went to the Rams from Darryl Rogers' coaching staff at Arizona State. The Sun Devils led the entire NCAA in total offensive yardage with 5,486 yards in 1981 under Baker's guidance. Bob is a 1951 graduate of Ball State (Ind.) and coached at four different Indiana high schools — Muncie, Royerton, Ft. Wayne Southside and Anderson Madison Heights. His college coaching career included stints as an assistant at Indiana (1966-73), Michigan State (1977-79, again on Rogers' staff), and Arizona State (1980-82). The '68 Indiana Hoosiers team reached the Rose Bowl under John Pont, Baker's mentor at his first college coaching stop. Baker was born in Lima, Ohio, and was reared in Bluffton, Ind. He and his wife Alyce have four daughters — Lisa, Rebecca, Sue and Debbie — and live in Rochester Hills, Mich.

Wayne Fontes • DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Following a nine-year tenure with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers that saw him rise through the Bucs' coaching staff to become the No. 1 assistant on John McKay's staff, Wayne Fontes left the Bucs to become Darryl Rogers' defensive coordinator in the spring of 1985. Fontes, a former AFL defensive back with the New York Jets, went from secondary coach to defensive coordinator and assistant head coach of the Buccaneers during his years at Tampa. He was first named the team's defensive coordinator in 1982 when Tom Bass left the Bucs for the San Diego Chargers. Under Fontes that year, the Bucs led the NFC in defense. Wayne is a Canton, Ohio, native who was a football and baseball star at Michigan State. He was an All-Big 10 defensive back and was selected to play in the North-South and Senior Bowl all-star games in 1962 before being drafted by the Jets, where he started in the defensive backfield in 1963-64 but had his playing career cut short by a broken leg. Entering 1986, Fontes still held the Jets' record for longest interception return, an 83-yarder against the Houston Oilers (12/15/63). His first coaching job was directing the freshman team at Michigan State in 1965 while he was working on his master's degree in administration. He coached at Visitation High School in Bay City, Mich., in 1966-67, winning the Michigan Class B state championship in '67 with a team that went 10-0, before serving as defensive backfield coach at three universities — Dayton (1968), Iowa (1969-71) and Southern Cal (1972-75). It was at the latter stop Fontes began a 13-year association with McKay, moving on to the expansion Bucs with McKay in '76. Wayne, whose brother Len is the defensive backfield coach of the New York Giants, lives with his wife Evelyn in Rochester, Mich. They have three children — Mike, Scott and Kim.

Carl Battershell

SPECIAL TEAMS

The Lions' special teams coach, Carl Battershell, entering his second year of pro football in 1986, attended Bowling Green State University, just 82 miles from Detroit, in northwestern Ohio. At Bowling Green, he was an All-Mid-American Conference offensive tackle. The 37-year-old Battershell (11/5/48) coached offensive linemen and special teams during a collegiate coaching career that included stops at Bowling Green (1973-76), Syracuse (1977-79), West Virginia (1980-82) and Arizona State (with Darryl Rogers, 1983-84). Carl and his wife Susan live in nearby Rochester. They have four children — sons Scott, Christopher and Jason, and a daughter, Lisette.

Paul Lanham

RECEIVERS

Paul Lanham's joining the Detroit Lions' coaching staff last fall was, for Paul, a return to the NFL. During 1983 and '84 he coached for George Allen in the United States Football League, directing the offense of the Chicago Blitz in '83 and the offense of the Arizona Wranglers in '84. Prior to that, Lanham was with the Los Angeles Rams for five years (1978-82) and with the Washington Redskins for five years ('73-77). In the latter job he served as special teams coach, and with the Rams Paul coached different positions in different seasons — including special teams, the quarterbacks and the running backs. His first year in the NFL was spent as the special teams and running backs coach of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1972. The 51-year old Lanham is a native West Virginian from Ripley. He attended Morris Harvey College before transferring to Glenville State (W.Va.), where he lettered three years as a linebacker. His assistant coaching jobs in college have been at Delaware (1960), Dayton (1961), Colorado State ('62-'69), and Arkansas ('70-'71). Paul and his wife Helen have three children — Tammy, Steve and Randy — and he lives in Pontiac.

Bill Muir

OFFENSIVE LINE

Pittsburgh native Bill Muir became the offensive line coach of the Lions in 1985 following a pro football career that dates back 18 years to the Continental Football league and includes nine years of coaching as an assistant at five different colleges. The 43-year-old Muir (10/26/42) spent three seasons with the New England Patriots' as the offensive line coach prior to joining the Lions. Over Muir's first two seasons in New England, the Patriots' offense had the best team rushing total (3,592 yards) in the NFL. Prior to that, he was with the Tampa Bay Bucs for four years (1978-81), first as a scout, and during the last three years as Director of Pro Personnel.

Before entering the NFL, Muir was an assistant coach at Susquehanna (1965), Delaware Valley (1966-67), Rhode Island (1970-71), Idaho State (1972-73) and at Southern Methodist (1976-77). He also coached in the Continental Football League with the Orlando Panthers (1968-69) as offensive coordinator and in the World Football League with the Houston-Shreveport franchise (1974-75), again as offensive coordinator. Bill played three years at tackle at Susquehanna, a small Pennsylvania college, making all-conference his final two seasons. He and his wife Barbara and their two children, Keelan and Brady, live in Rochester, Mich.

Mike Murphy

LINEBACKERS

Following a seven-year stint coaching defenses in the Canadian Football League and the United States Football League, Mike Murphy was the final assistant hired in 1985 on Head Coach Darryl Rogers' all-new assistant coaching staff. Murphy had spent the previous two years as the defensive line coach of the Chicago Blitz. Prior to that, he was for five seasons the defensive coordinator of the Saskatchewan Roughriders. He began his coaching career, which has spanned 20 years, at the high school level in the '60s in Boulder, Colo., then in Denver, and later in Woonsocket, S.D. Mike attended college in South Dakota, at Huron College, where he played guard and linebacker for four years. He moved into college coaching as an assistant in 1974 at Idaho State, where he advanced to defensive coordinator by 1976. He moved to Western Illinois as linebacker coach in '77. A Manhattan, N.Y., native, Murphy graduated from Greenwich (Conn.) High. He holds a master's degree in educational administration from the University of Vermont. He and his wife Robin, and their children, Sam and Sarah, live in Rochester. Mike will turn 42 this fall (9/25/44).

Rex Norris

DEFENSIVE LINE

In the Oklahoma University salad decade of the '70s, while the Sooners were the only school in the nation other than Alabama to pile up 100 victories, and while OU was winning the Big 8 championship nine times, their great defensive linemen (Lucious, Dewey and Lee Roy Selmon, Reggie Kinlaw, Keith Gary, Phil Tabor, John Goodman, Ricky Bryan) all were being coached by Rex Norris, now the defensive line coach of the Lions. Norris spent 11 years on the Oklahoma staff under Barry Switzer, from 1973-83. He was named defensive coordinator in 1978 and assistant head coach in '81. He left OU after the '83 season to join Darryl Rogers as defensive line coach at Arizona State and continued on with Darryl last spring to Detroit. Norris' other college jobs have been at Navarro Junior College in Texas (1970-71) and Texas A&M ('72). Rex was a JC All-America as a linebacker at Angelo State (Tex.) before transferring for his final two years to East Texas State, where he served as team captain in 1962. Following graduation, Norris spent six years coaching at R. L. Turner High in Carrollton, Tex. Now 46 (12/10/39), he was born in Tipton, Ind. Rex's wife's name is Alicia and he has a son, Rex Jr., and a daughter, Whitney Rae, both of whom are college students.

Willie Shaw

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Secondary coach Willie Shaw, 42 (1/11/44), also came to the Lions from Darryl Rogers' Arizona State staff, where he coached the defensive backfield. An honorable mention All-America defensive back at New Mexico, Shaw attended college following a service hitch in the U.S. Air Force. Willie's coaching career has taken him throughout the west. He has been an assistant at San Diego City College (1970-72), Stanford ('73-'76), Cal State-Long Beach ('77-'78), Oregon ('79) and for five years at ASU ('80-'84). Shaw originally is from San Diego, where he was a high school head coach at San Diego High. He and wife Gay have two sons, David and Eric, and a daughter, Tawnya, and live in Rochester.

Ivy Williams

RUNNING BACKS

Former Xavier team captain and two-time leading receiver and scorer Ivy Williams joined the Lions in 1985 as running backs coach. Like Don Clemons, Carl Battershell, Rex Norris and Willie Shaw, Ivy came to the Lions from Darryl Rogers' staff at Arizona State. Following his brilliant playing career, Williams, 37 (8/12/49), remained at Xavier as a graduate assistant coach while working on his master's degree. From there he spent a season (1973) at Middletown (Ohio) High School, before being named the offensive backfield coach at Marshall in '74. Ivy also has been an assistant at Kansas State ('75-'77), New Mexico State ('78), Kansas ('79-'81) and with Rogers at ASU ('82-'84).

At every stop he coached running backs except for his first year at Arizona State, when he coached the Sun Devils' receivers, and at New Mexico State in '78, where he also tutored the receivers. He and his wife Barbara have two children, a son Marlon and a daughter Blair, and live in nearby Rochester Hills.

Don Doll

TIGHT ENDS/STAFF ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT

Don Doll returns this season for his 15th year of service with the Detroit Lions. A native of Southern California, Don was a two-way halfback for the Detroit Lions from 1949-52 and he still holds the club mark for most interceptions in a game with four against the Chicago Cardinals in 1949. Don also shares (with Jack Christiansen) the Lions' record for most interceptions in a season with 12 in 1950. Don, 59, played his college ball at Southern California (1944, 1946-48) and was the Most Valuable Pacific Coast player his senior year. He began a four-year playing stint with the Lions in 1949, seeing most of his action on defense and earning three trips to the Pro Bowl. He also played professionally for Washington (1953) and Los Angeles (1954).

After his playing days, Don coached collegiately at Washington ('55), Contra Costa Junior College ('56), Southern California ('57-58) and Notre Dame ('59-62). His first professional coaching was with the Lions (1963-64), and he then coached with the Los Angeles Rams ('65), Washington (1966-70), Green Bay (1971-73), Baltimore ('74), and Miami (1975-76). Don has been with the Lions on a continuous basis since 1978. He serves as the coaching staff's liaison with the club in administration and office matters while also coaching the tight ends. A member of the Sacramento, Calif., Sports Hall of Fame, Don and his wife Diana have five children: Steven, Wendy, Kevan, Heidi and Michael.

Kent Falb

HEAD TRAINER

Entering his 21st year with the Lions, Kent Falb was named the 1984 "Professional Athletic Trainer of the Year," as selected by the National Athletic Trainers Association. For years Falb has been regarded as one of the top athletic trainers in the country. Along with his assistant, Joe Recknagel, Falb oversees all rehabilitation programs, off-season conditioning work, and of course, the treatment of players' injuries. A native of Elgin, Iowa, Kent graduated from the University of Iowa in 1964 and received a Physical Therapy certificate from Iowa one year later. He began his athletic training career in 1959 as an assistant trainer at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. He was a student trainer at Iowa throughout college and worked part-time for the Minnesota Vikings in 1963 and '64. In 1965 Kent was named head trainer at Boston College and moved to the Lions as assistant trainer under Millard Kelly in 1966. He assumed his present position as head trainer with the Lions in 1967. Counting exhibition and playoff games, Kent enters the 1986 season having worked 377 games for the Lions. Of that total, 273 are regular-season games. By comparison, the most games played by a Lions' player is 200 by Wayne Walker. Kent, 46, lives in nearby Lake Orion with his wife Maxine and daughters Carmen and Nanette.

Dan Jaroshewich • EQUIPMENT MANAGER

Another long-standing member of the Lions' family, equipment manager Dan Jaroshewich, enters his 14th season of service with the Lions. A native of Windsor, Ont., Dan joined the Lions in 1973 as an assistant to long-time Lions' equipment man Roy "Friday" Macklem, who spent 44 years with the Lions. Dan, 32, supervises the purchasing, repairing, replacing and cleaning of the various equipment, uniforms and clothing used by the players and coaching staff. Dan is capably aided by his assistant Mark Glenn. Mark, 25, worked for the Lions on a part-time basis from 1976-82. He became a full-time employee in 1983 and assists Jaroshewich in all areas of the equipment operation. Prior to joining the Lions, Jaroshewich worked at the high school and semi-pro levels in Windsor. He has a degree in personal and industrial relations from the University of Detroit and is close to completion of work on a master's degree in sports administration from Wayne State. Dan and his wife Kathy had their second daughter, Jessica, born on Dan's birthday last Feb. 13. Their first daughter, Jennifer, was born in October of 1984. The Jaroshewichs live in Troy. Mark Glenn and his wife Maria live in Pontiac and have a two-year old son, Marc.

Joe Recknagel • ASSISTANT TRAINER

Every head trainer in professional sports will tell you the success of his operation depends greatly on the assistant trainer. So when Lions' head trainer Kent Falb was named the 1984 Professional Trainer of the Year, a big assist was credited to Joe Recknagel, Falb's assistant the past six years. Recknagel, a Toledo, Ohio, native, began his athletic training career as a student trainer at Rogers High School in Toledo. After graduating from Rogers, Joe attended Ohio University where he was a student assistant trainer for four years (1974-78). While at Ohio U., he assisted Falb at the Lions' training camp during the summers of 1977, '78, '79. After graduating from Ohio U. in 1978, Joe accepted the position of graduate assistant trainer at Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va. In 1979, he was promoted to assistant athletic trainer at Marshall. While at Marshall, Recknagel worked with the football, wrestling and basketball teams. In June of 1980, he joined the Lions. Joe also donates his time and expertise to the Oakland County Special Olympics and to both the Winter and Summer State (of Michigan) Special Olympic Games, which are held each February and May. A member of the National Athletic Trainers Association of America, Joe is single and resides in Lake Orion, Mich.

Don Clemons • STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

Another member of Darryl Rogers' Arizona State staff who came to Detroit, Don Clemons is the Lions' strength and conditioning coordinator. Clemons, 32, is a native of Northampton, Pa. He was a standout defensive end at tiny Muehlenberg (Pa.) College, where he earned all-district honors and was team captain his senior year ('76). His first coaching experience was at Kutztown State (Pa.) where he tutored outside linebackers for two seasons (1977-78). He then spent one year as linebackers' coach at New Mexico before joining Rogers at Arizona State. Clemons was the strength and conditioning coach for the Sun Devils and also assisted the defensive line coach. Holder of an English degree from Muehlenburg, Don and his wife Shawn live in Rochester, Mich.

Joe Bushofsky • DIRECTOR OF PLAYER PERSONNEL

One of the National Football League's most respected talent scouts, Joe Bushofsky, was rewarded for his 11 years of dedicated service to the Lions in June of 1985 when he was named the Lions' Director of Player Personnel. Joe joined the Lions in 1975 after working two years for BLESTO — a National Football League scouting combine service. He originally scouted the Eastern United States' colleges for the Lions, then expanded his area to parts of the Midwest. Joe was responsible for the scouting of approximately one-half of the colleges and universities in the country during his early years with the club. Now 47, Bushofsky was born and raised on Pittsburgh's Northside, where he was a three-sport star in football, basketball and baseball at North Catholic High School. He played guard and center for North Catholic's 1956 football team which won the Pittsburgh Catholic championship. He enrolled at North Carolina State, where at 5-10, 185-pounds, he was one of the smallest starting guards in Atlantic Coast Conference history. He was all-conference as a senior ('62) and was named to the state of North Carolina's college all-star football team in '61 and '62. After obtaining a bachelor's degree in recreation from N.C. State, Joe returned to the Pittsburgh area, where he was a successful high school coach for 12 years. As head coach at his alma mater, North Catholic, he compiled three consecutive undefeated seasons (1968-70). In 1970 Joe began working for the Pittsburgh Steelers on a part-time basis doing film evaluation and then joined BLESTO in 1973. Joe and his wife Rose have four children — Ted, Tracy, Tricia, and Terry — and they reside in Troy, Mich.

SCOUTING STAFF

Ron Hughes

Dirk Dierking

Jim Owens

Ron Hughes continues to assist Joe Bushofsky with various college scouting duties, but his primary responsibility is in the area of pro scouting. Other full-time scouting staff members include John Trump, Dirk Dierking and Jim Owens, along with special assignments scout Jerry Neri.

Hughes, a 1965 graduate of California State College of Pennsylvania, followed the same path to the Lions that Bushofsky took. He returned to his native Pittsburgh, became the head coach at North Catholic High School (for 12 seasons), then went to work for BLESTO for four years. A year ago Hughes began his acceleration in the Lions' pro scouting program while also handling Detroit area college scouting along with various schools throughout Michigan, Ohio and Illinois. Also like Bushofsky, Ron and his wife Adrienne live in the Detroit metropolitan area (Lathrup Village), near Southfield. Their son Ted assists year-around in the Lions' equipment operation.

John Trump

Jerry Neri

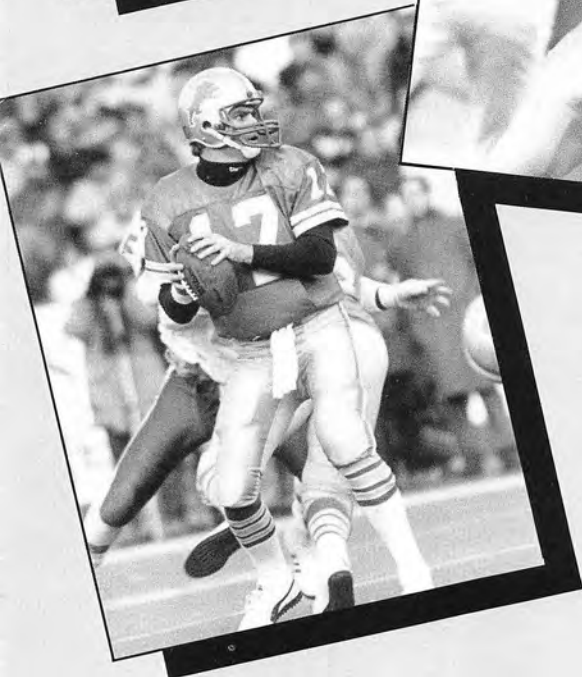

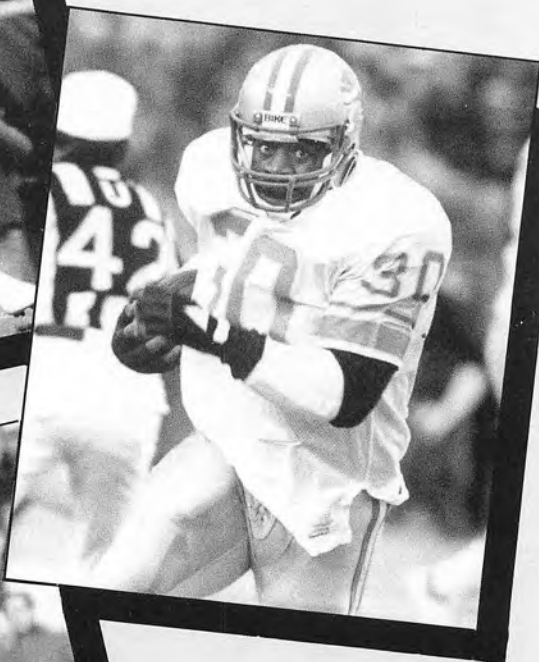

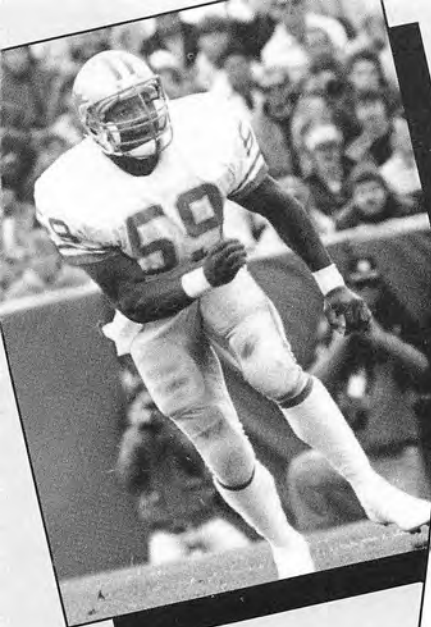

Trump spent seven years with the Chargers as that club's scouting department administrative assistant before coming to the Lions in '85. Prior to his job with San Diego, he had a 25-year association with the Rams that began in 1953 after three years as a high school football and baseball coach in the Los Angeles City school system. Trump serves the Lions as area scout in California and at Western U.S. colleges.

Dierking, whose first name is Clarence, came to the Lions in June of 1978 to scout the Central and Southwest colleges, including all colleges in Texas. A native Texan from Brenham, his background includes several years as an area scout for BLESTO.

Owens, new with the Lions in 1984 when he scouted colleges in the Southeast, is, like Dierking, a native Texan (Garland, Tex.) who also worked for BLESTO before coming to Detroit. Prior to six years with that scouting combine service, Owens was a high school and college coach at various stops throughout Texas for 21 years. This fall he will cover the Eastern U.S. colleges.

John and Jean Trump live in Van Nuys, Calif. They have two sons, one of whom, Frank, is a scout for the Rams. Dierking and his wife Debbie, also are the parents of two sons, and live in Plano, Tex., a suburb of Dallas, while Owens and his wife Charlotte live in Athens, Tex., with their three children.

The dean of the Lions' scouting department, Neri handles special assignments from his home base in Los Angeles, where he and his wife Theresa live. Neri, a Villanova grad who has coached in college and pro football (Redskins), has been with the Lions since July of 1969.

PROFILES

Kurt Allerman • 51

LINEBACKER • PENN STATE • 10th YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 231 • BORN: 8-30-55 • (FA IN '85)

1985: When the Lions brought Kurt Allerman to the Silverdome for a tryout, the coaches were looking for someone to help an injury-depleted linebacking corps. Not only did the veteran Allerman make the squad, but he eventually became a starter (he started seven games), before a knee injury in the Thanksgiving Day win over the New York Jets sidelined him for the season. Particularly adept at defending against the run, Allerman quickly made his presence felt in Detroit's Week 4 defeat of Tampa Bay when he recorded 10 solo tackles and twice stopped All-Pro running back James Wilder with bone-jarring, open-field tackles. "Kurt was one of our most productive defensive players against the run last season," Lions' linebacker coach Mike Murphy said. "He provides veteran leadership and is a very smart player who doesn't make very many mistakes. We really are counting on Kurt, especially against the run, this season." Allerman, who missed two games (Weeks 10 & 11) due to a rib injury, was still able to record 55 tackles (40 solo) and also forced one fumble. He enters the 1986 training camp as the starting left inside linebacker.

CAREER: Originally a third-round choice of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1977, Kurt spent his rookie season playing special teams before becoming a starter his second year ('78) . . . He was St. Louis' second-leading tackler in 1979 with 108 total (69 solo tackles), but he surprisingly was released the following year just prior to the first game . . . Kurt signed with Green Bay three weeks into the 1980 season, and while playing in just 13 games with the Packers that year, he finished second on the team with 114 tackles (69 solo) . . . He was claimed from waivers by St. Louis prior to the '82 season and returned to the Cardinals to play in 41 consecutive games with that club prior to his release last August.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Kurt was named UPI First Team All-America after a spectacular senior season at Penn State in 1976 . . . Was named the outstanding defensive player in the 1975 Sugar Bowl vs. Alabama . . . Penn State co-captain as a senior and co-captain of the North Squad in the 1976 Senior Bowl . . . high school All-America at Kinnelon, N.J., as both a linebacker and tight end . . . Spends his offseason in St. Louis where he works as an account representative for City Lighting Products Co. . . active member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes . . . Married in '79, Kurt and his wife Kim have one child, Ryan-Cody (2/7/83) . . . His father Ken played football for Woody Hayes at Miami (Ohio) where he was a teammate of Ara Parsegian . . . His full name is Kurt Daniel Allerman.

Steve Baack • 68

NOSE TACKLE-DEFENSIVE END • OREGON • 3rd YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 265 • BORN: 11-16-60 • (D-3C IN '84)

1985: The value of Steve Baack's stock rose when, for the second consecutive season, he played in every game, including a start in the season finale against the Bears. In fact, his playing time increased dramatically during the schedule's final month, and he recorded nine of his 12 total tackles in the year's last three games. Though he worked primarily at defensive end during training camp, Steve was used extensively at defensive tackle when the Lions' shifted into a four-man, short yardage defensive front. Also he was on virtually all special teams, and played most of the second half at NT in Week 16 against the Bears in place of an injured Curtis Green. However, he was at his best in goal-line defenses which prompted Darryl Rogers to call Baack "one of the better short-yardage players I've seen." Steve was particularly sharp in the Thanksgiving Day win over the Jets when he recovered a fumble that led to the Lions' first score and later sacked Jets' QB Ken O'Brien. His 17-yard sack of Green Bay's Jim Zorn in Week 15 was Detroit's longest of the year.

CAREER: Baack was used primarily as a special teamer in '84. . . . He also practiced at OG in '84 when injuries decimated Detroit's offensive line. . . . The 75th player chosen in the 1984 draft, he was the Lions' third third-round pick, behind NT Eric Williams and RB Ernest Anderson. . . . Detroit got that extra choice in a trade that sent TE David Hill to the Rams.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Baack (sounds like Bock) was a defensive captain for the '83 Oregon Ducks when he led the team in sacks (6) and was second in tackles-for-a-loss with 8. . . . He was voted second-team All-Pac 10 as a senior DE and later played in the Blue-Gray Game. . . . Steve holds a degree in psychology from Oregon where he met his wife Jeanette, a three-year letter winner in gymnastics. . . . Born in Ames, Iowa, Steve was a three-sport letterman at Grand Union High School in John Day, Ore. . . . He was a track all-stater in the discuss. . . . Steve and Jeanette reside year-round in Rochester, Mich. . . . His full name is Steven William Baack.

Mike Black • 11

PUNTER • ARIZONA STATE • 4TH YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 197 • BORN: 1-18-61 • (D-7 IN '83)

1985: Continued improvement has been Mike Black's trademark during his three-year pro-career as he takes aim at the upper echelon of NFL punters in 1986. Mike set personal highs in punting average (34.7), and a single-game best with a 50.3 yards per punt average (on four punts) in the Lions' upset of Miami (Week 8). His longest punt of the year, a 60-yarder, came against Minnesota (Week 11), and he distinguished himself by having had no touchback punts in his final 25 kicks (spanning five games) of the year. "The best thing that Mike did for us all year was handling pressure punts," praised special teams Coach Carl Battershell. "I can think of at least five times that when we needed a big punt, he delivered." Black, who also is the Lions' back-up holder on kicks and an "emergency" quarterback, ranked ninth among NFC punters last year in punting average and 12th in the NFL in net average, which reveal Black's progress but also shows room for improvement. "Mike has a strong leg but we want him to work more-and-more during the off-season to improve his flexibility and to become more consistent in his hang times," said Battershell. "Once he achieves that consistency, he has a chance to establish himself as one of the league's better punters."

CAREER: Black has never missed playing in a Lions' game, a string of 48 straight. . . . Career game bests — Most Punts: 10 vs. Raiders in '84; Most yards: 480 vs. Raiders in '84; Longest punt: 63 vs. Falcons in '84. . . . He has had only one punt blocked in his career, in his fourth game as a pro, by Robin Sundelin of Minnesota in '83. . . . Mike's 220 career punts ranks fourth on Detroit's all-time list.

COLLEGE & PERONAL: Mike starred for Frank Kush (1979) and Darryl Rogers (1980-83) at Arizona State where he was a three-time all-Pac-10 selection. . . . As a Sun Devil senior, he led the Pac-10 with a 44.2 yards per punt average and set an ASU record with a 41.9 net average. . . . He also set career marks for punts (235) and yards punting (9,902). . . . Mike was tabbed honorable mention All-America in 1981 and 1982. . . . One of the Lions' busiest charity participants, Mike twice won ASU's community service award. . . . An uncle of Mike's is former Bears' Quarterback Virgil Carter. . . . During the off-season, Black owns and operates Phoenix Asphalt Paving Company in Phoenix. . . . Mike and his wife Lenna were awaiting the birth of their first child, due prior to '86 training camp. . . . The Glendale, Calif. native's full name is Peter Michael Black.

Carl Bland • 80

WIDE RECEIVER • VIRGINIA UNION • 3rd YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 182 • BORN: 8-17-61 • (FA IN '84)

1985: Carl Bland's roller coaster ride with the Detroit Lions came to an abrupt halt in the final two weeks of last season when the unknown free agent wide receiver from tiny Virginia Union was inserted into the Lions' starting lineup. Bland's chance came in those final two games because of injuries to Jeff Chadwick and Mark Nichols. In his first start in Week 15 against Green Bay, Bland caught seven passes for 109 yards. He followed that performance in the season's finale against the World Champion Bears with five catches for 48 yards, with two coming as diving grabs over the middle. "Carl certainly showed us in his brief opportunity that he has the capabilities of playing in the NFL," said Lions' Coach Darryl Rogers. "He is a capable receiver because he's had the stableness of concentrating on just one position during his two years with the club." True, 1985 was Bland's second year with the Lions, but most of last year is probably one he'd rather forget. Twice during the year Bland was waived and re-signed by Detroit. He was waived initially on 9/3/85 in the final cut to 45 players, then re-signed 10/17/85 before being waived again 10/31/85. His only playing action during those weeks came in just one game — on special teams against the Dolphins in Week 8. But after being re-signed for good 11/4/85, Carl appeared in the final seven games of the season and started the last two. His first catch in the next-to-last game against the Packers was his first as a pro.

CAREER: Bland had a checkered '84 rookie season with the Lions too because of a hamstring injury in training camp that kept him on injured reserve until the final six weeks of that season. . . . He did not play in his first three games after finally suiting up in Week 13 of '84, then played only on special teams in the final three games of that season. . . . "Carl Bland and Pete Mandley are two third-year guys who might just break into our starting lineup this season," said Darryl Rogers last spring. . . . Bland also had three solo tackles in kick coverage last year. . . . He was one of two free agent rookies to make the Lions in '84.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: A bachelor from Richmond, Va., Bland went to college in his hometown at Virginia Union, a school of just 1,500 students. . . . He attended Thomas Jefferson High School. . . . A 4.59 40-yard dash man, his full name is Carl Nathaniel Bland.

Kansas City coaching staff and was a training camp cut (Aug. 12). Once in Detroit, Bostic caught fire and "continued to improve each time he got on the field," according to Darryl Rogers. By season's end he was the club's principal backup at both corners, played weak safety in the nickel defense, and was awarded a game ball for his special teams' play in the Thanksgiving Day win over the Jets. "I felt I improved through the season and learned a lot about myself," says Bostic. "In college, I always felt I was a better athlete than who I had to cover, but in the NFL I had to adjust to playing against outstanding athletes game-in and game-out. And I learned to be patient."

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Clocked at 4.5 in the 40-yard dash on artificial turf by scouts, Bostic was a four-year starter and three-year captain at tiny (1,700 enrollment) Bethune-Cookman in Daytona Beach, Fla. . . . A three-year All-Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference standout, John guided Bethune-Cookman to the league championship and a 7-3 record his senior ('84) season. . . . He was the MEAC's defensive "Player of the Year" in '84. . . . John intercepted 16 passes in his career, including six as a freshman and four apiece during his sophomore and senior seasons. . . . His college coach ('83-'84) was former Miami Dolphins' great Larry Little. . . . He competed in the 1985 Freedom Bowl in Atlanta. . . . Bostic has a degree in pre-med and has aspirations of becoming a family physician. . . . Mark Brammer • 83

TIGHT END • MICHIGAN STATE • 6th YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 235 • BORN: 5-3-58 • (FA IN '86)

1985: A calf injury that kept Mark Brammer out of the Buffalo Bills' lineup the final month of the 1983 season was a portent of things to come for the tight end from Michigan State and Traverse City, Mich. Brammer was to suffer through an injury-filled '84 season and then miss all of last year when a training camp injury regulated him to the Bills' injured reserve. Following three weeks of the '85 regular season, Buffalo waived Brammer from reserve and he was out of football for the remainder of the year. Having played all four of his collegiate years at MSU for Darryl Rogers, Brammer's chance to return to pro football will come this year after the Lions signed the veteran receiver in early March. "There's nothing that says Mark is great at this or that," reports Rogers, "just that he has the good balance to play tight end in the league. He's an experienced football player who can both catch and block."

CAREER: Brammer originally came into the NFL as the Bills' first of two third-round draft picks in 1980, the 67th player picked overall in the draft that year. . . . He has started 43 games in his pro career, including five as a rookie when he shared the Bills' tight end job with Reuben Gant. . . . Despite the strike-shortened season, Brammer caught 25 passes in 1982 and has averaged just under 25 catches in his five seasons (116 catches in his career to date, ten for touchdowns). . . . The Bills occasionally used Brammer as a fullback from the shotgun formation, and he also handled the club's long snapping duties when regular snapper Justin Cross was injured during the last half of the '84 season. . . . Injuries held Brammer to a career-low seven catches in '84. He missed the first four weeks of that season with an ankle injury, then he suffered a broken hand against Dallas in November. . . . Was the Bills' full-time starter at tight end from '81 to '83. . . . Had four receptions in a playoff loss at San Diego in '80.

CAREER & PERSONAL: His 107 catches at Michigan State ranks him fourth all-time in Spartans' receiving history; his 1,035 yards receiving ranks sixth all-time. . . . A second-team All-America (UPI) as a senior, Mark also was a first team All-Big Ten choice that year ('79). . . . Caught eight passes for 129 yards in a game against Notre Dame as a sophomore. . . . Along with Detroit Tigers' outfielder Kirk Gibson, Brammer gave Darryl Rogers a potent 1-2 receiving tandem at Michigan State as the Spartans led the Big Ten in passing statistics during Rogers' tenure there. . . . Was one of five finalists for the NFL Man-of-the-Year, which recognizes football achievement and community service, in 1983. . . . He and his wife Patricia live in Orchard Park, N.Y., and have three children, daughters Katie, Kelly and Anna. . . . His full name is Mark D. Brammer (pronounced BRAY-mer). . . . His degree from Michigan State is in recreation. . . . Brammer was a high school All-America his senior year at Traverse City High.

Arnold Brown • 23

CORNERBACK • NORTH CAROLINA CENTRAL • 2nd YEAR
HT: 5-10 • WT: 185 • BORN: 8-27-62 • (FA IN '85)

1985: One man's misfortune often is another man's opportunity. That was the case for Arnold Brown, who was Seattle's second pick in the fifth round of the '85 draft (128th player selected overall). Released by the Seahawks late in training camp (Aug. 28), Arnold got new life when the Lions inked him to a free agent contract during Week 2. Cornerback Duane Galloway had suffered a broken arm in the season-opener against Atlanta, paving the way onto the Lions' roster for Brown. Impressive against the Lions in a pre-season loss at Seattle, Brown continued to develop once he became Detroit property. He helped spark the Lions' upset of defending Super Bowl champion San Francisco in Week 7 with a four-tackle performance but fell prey himself to misfortune the following week against the Dolphins when he fractured his elbow on the second half kickoff. He spent the remainder of the season on injured reserve. "Arnold's a young player who was coming along for us until he got hurt," said defensive

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: A four-year letterman and two-year starter at North Carolina Central, Brown is a burner with 4.5 (on artificial turf) speed. . . . He was a first team All-Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association pick as a senior when he had five interceptions and 35 tackles. . . . TACKLE • FLORIDA • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 282 • BORN: 3-30-63 • (D-1 IN '85)

1985: After all was said and done last season, there was no rookie who performed any better than the Detroit Lions' Lomas Brown. A consensus all-rookie selection, Lomas was a starter at left tackle from the day he arrived in Motown. He led the entire offense in minutes played with 425½ and would have played every offensive down if he hadn't been ejected from the New England game after a fourth-quarter altercation with Pats' linebacker Steve Nelson. Ironically, the Lions, who had the sixth pick in the '85 draft, had planned to select either of two linebackers with their first pick. But when Indianapolis and Minnesota ruined the Lions' plans by taking both linebackers the Lions had their sights on, Detroit took Lomas and now the chain of events turned out to be happy ones. "When you consider that Lomas was late in getting to training camp (he didn't sign until Aug. 9) and that he was thrust into a starting position with not a lot of time to properly learn the system, I think he just had a super season," Lions' offensive line Coach Bill Muir said. "We are extremely happy with Lomas and feel certain he will be quite a force on the offensive line for years to come. There's no reason why he shouldn't, if he continues to improve, be an All-Pro before long." Lomas' excellent play last season gave the Lions the flexibility to move former starting left tackle Rich Strenger to the right tackle spot vacated by Keith Dorney's move to right guard.

Games: Played 16, Started 16.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Lomas was a two-time All-America selection at Florida where he started his last three years. . . . A consensus All-SEC selection in '84, he also was named to the Walter Camp, Kodak, Football Writers, Associated Press, and Sporting News All-America teams. . . . Played in the Hula and Senior Bowls. . . . As a junior, Lomas was All-SEC Second Team and AP Honorable Mention. . . . Played two seasons with Lions' current fullback James Jones. . . . Was All-City and All-State as an inside linebacker at Miami Springs High School in Miami, Fla. . . . Is cousin of San Francisco 49er's Guy McIntyre. . . . Was married this past off-season. . . . Jeff Chadwick • 89

WIDE RECEIVER • GRAND VALLEY STATE • 4th YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 190 • BORN: 12-16-60 • (FA IN '83)

1985: It was the best of times and the worst of times for Jeff Chadwick. Just as it seemed he was about to join the inner circle of the NFL's finest receivers, Chadwick was stymied by a collarbone injury against Tampa Bay in Week 4 and was finally driven from the lineup for the remainder of the season when the collarbone was re-broken at Minnesota in Week 9. At the time of his year-ending injury, Chadwick was the club's leading receiver and had set personal game bests in receptions (7 at Green Bay, Week 5), yards receiving (112 at Green Bay, Week 5), touchdown catches (2 at Atlanta, Week 1) and longest reception (56 yards from Eric Hipple at Atlanta, Week 1). "Jeff can become a premier receiver in the league if he can avoid injuries," praises Offensive Coordinator Bob Baker. "He certainly has enough foot speed and body control to rank among the best." Though the season was bittersweet for him, Jeff did lead the Lions with his 19.1 yards-per-catch average. He also was awarded a game ball after the season-opening win over the Falcons for his performance (three catches for 80 yards and two TDs in a 28-27 Lions' win).

CAREER: The Lions found a gem in their own back yard when Chadwick was signed as a free agent in '83. Most scouts shied away after he had been clocked at 4.75 in the 40-yard dash as a college junior. . . . "Rob Rubick (Lions' tight end and Chadwick's roommate in college) told us he could run faster than 4.75," recalled Lions' Director of Player Personnel Joe Bushofsky. "So, one of our former assistant coaches (Larry Seiple) clocked him during his senior year. This time it was under 4.5. What Chadwick is, really, is a Cris Collinsworth-style player with loads of potential." . . . He was voted to two All-Rookie teams in '83 after achieving 40 catches and four TDs, still his career high. . . . "Chad" was the only non-drafted rookie to make the Lions' roster in '83. . . . He suffered no sophomore jinx in '84, and also made the most of his first and only rushing attempt — a 12-yard TD rush on a reverse handoff from Billy Sims at San Diego (9/30/84).

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Chadwick is a native of the Detroit Metro area from Dearborn Heights and a Dearborn Divine Child High School graduate. . . . He starred in both football and track (a 6'10" high jumper) in high school and college. . . . At Grand Valley State, an NCAA Division II school in Allendale, Mich., Jeff set records for receptions (42), yards (894) and TDs (13) during his senior year and career marks in yards (1,512) and TD receptions (19). . . . He finished his degree in business (marketing) at Grand Valley State and married the former Karen Hoffman during a busy off-season. . . . His full name is Jeffrey Allan Chadwick.

1985: It was one of the great experiments of last season — moving Mike Cofer from defensive end to right outside linebacker — and it was working, until Cofer got hurt. Cofer, perhaps a bit undersized for the defensive end spot he played his first two years with the Lions, was arguably the most important part of Detroit's switch to the 3-4 position. If he could adapt to the outside linebacker slot, the 3-4 defense could prosper. He did adapt and it was prospering — until a freak accident during an Oct. 23 practice which resulted in a fractured hip for Cofer and ended his '85 season. "Mike was having an excellent year for us until he got hurt," Lions linebackers' Coach Mike Murphy said. "He made the transition from defensive end to linebacker very well and was just getting better as the season went on. We expect Mike to continue to improve this year. We feel very confident with Cofer and Jimmy Williams as our outside 'backers." Cofer started seven games before his injury and registered 32 tackles (24 solo) and one sack. One of the most physically gifted Lions, Cofer has been clocked under 4.5 in the 40-yard dash, a time considered good for running backs, exceptional for linebackers. "He has tremendous physical ability," Lions' Defensive Coordinator Wayne Fontes says of Cofer. "Great speed, he's tall, drops back well for pass coverage, everything you look for in an outside linebacker. In fact, I feel Mike has as much physical talent as any outside linebacker in the NFL."

CAREER: Made his first start (as a defensive end) with the Lions in a Monday Night game against the New York Giants (11-7-83) and registered a sack in that contest . . . He started seven games at right defensive end in '83 and the first four games of the '84 season . . . He then switched with William Gay and moved to the left defensive end position where he started the final 12 games of '84 . . . His 107 total and 75 solo tackles led all Lions' defensive linemen in '84.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: A four-year letterman at Tennessee and captain as a senior ('82) when he was first-team All-SEC and Honorable Mention All-America . . . Elementary Education major at UT . . . Graduate of Rule High School in Knoxville, where he was All-America in football and All-State in basketball . . . an aspiring actor, Mike appeared in two stage plays while in college and would like to eventually act professionally . . . hosted mock 'Saturday Night Live' programs in college . . . LINEBACKER • SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA • 4th YEAR

1985: Last season may have been the most pivotal of August Curley's young NFL career. Because for the first time since his junior year (1981) of college football, Curley made it through a football season without sustaining a knee injury or having to recover from a previous injury. August played in all 16 games for the Lions, starting 12 at the left inside linebacker spot and two at right inside linebacker. "As the season ('85) went on, August gained more confidence in his knees and his play really improved," Lions' linebackers Coach Mike Murphy said. "August is a very intelligent player, and if he can stay healthy, we expect him to make quite a contribution to our football team." Curley finished sixth on the team with 75 total tackles (51 solo) and also forced one fumble. "August got much better as the season went on," Lions' Head Coach Darryl Rogers said. "He played especially well in the last three games of the season."

CAREER: Curley has had three knee operations during his football career (one in college and two with the Lions) . . . As a rookie, Curley saw action in the first ten games on special teams and in nickel situations, before a knee injury in a Week 10 game sidelined him for the remainder of the season . . . Three months after that injury, he needed another operation after slipping on ice near his apartment and breaking a kneecap . . . As a rookie he recorded eight tackles (7 solo) . . . In '84 he played in the last eight games of the season and had four tackles (3 solo) after recovering from the kneecap injury.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: August earned Honorable Mention All-PAC 10 honors as a junior when he recorded 115 tackles . . . Began his senior year ('82) with a stellar, 22-tackle, one interception performance against Florida, only to have his college career end the following week with a knee injury against Indiana . . . Was an avid surfer during college days . . . Earned a marketing degree at USC . . . Enjoys photography and plays the guitar . . . Was a three sport standout at Southwest High School in Atlanta where he earned All-State honors in football, played basketball, and as a pitcher for the baseball team, threw the first no-hitter in school history . . . FULLBACK • MARYLAND • 2nd YEAR

1985: Last year was a lost season for young fullback Dave D'Addio. Penciled in as the Lions' back-up fullback to James Jones as training camp got underway, D'Addio suffered a severe arch injury during July drills and had to go on injured reserve for the year. As late as November D'Addio still was wearing a cast on his foot in an effort to heal the troublesome injury. He did manage to practice with the team the final two weeks of the regular season but was never activated. "Dave might have helped us at two positions last year — fullback and tight end. He has that kind of versatility," said Darryl Rogers. "If he's healthy again, he will concentrate on fullback, although he also could be a wingback-type tight end for us in certain formations."

CAREER: Though his action was brief as a rookie in '84, D'Addio impressed the Lions as a fierce blocking fullback. . . . In limited action that year, he rushed for 46 yards and caught one pass, while also excelling as a blocker on kick return units. . . . Started two games as a rookie against Philadelphia and Chicago in Weeks 10 and 12. . . . His last name is pronounced DAD-ee-oh.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Dave missed a year and one-half of college play due to injuries (knee and shoulder), but enhanced his draft round chances with stellar performances in the East-West Shrine and Senior Bowl games at the conclusion of his senior season. . . . In six games for the Terrapins in 1983, D'Addio rushed for 213 yards and five touchdowns and caught 20 passes for another 208 yards. . . . He was voted by his coaches the recipient of the "Tough Terp" award that year. . . . After lettering as a fullback as a freshman, D'Addio played linebacker his sophomore season. He returned to fullback to stay as a junior although that year was lost to a knee injury. . . . He co-captained the Maryland squad as a senior. . . . Played in the Aloha Bowl in '82 and the Citrus Bowl in '83. . . . Played linebacker in the Tangerine Bowl in '80. . . . full name is David John D'Addio. . . . Hails from Union, N.J. . . . Chris Dieterich • 72

GUARD-TACKLE • NORTH CAROLINA STATE • 7th YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 275 • BORN: 7-27-58 • (D-6 IN '80)

1985: The Detroit Lions' "true grit" award last year could easily have gone to guard Don Greco for his courageous play while battling injuries most of the season, but it most likely would have gone to the Lions' other starting guard for '85, veteran Christian Jeffery Dieterich (pronounced DEE-trick). Entering training camp last July, it was unknown if Dieterich would even be able to play because of a degenerative hip condition that kept him out of all mini-camp work earlier in the year. But once the season got underway, Dieterich was stationed at his position, left guard. Then disaster hit in the opening series of the Lions' game at Indianapolis in Week 3 when Chris suffered a dislocated kneecap that forced him to miss all but two minutes playing time during the next eight weeks. Then, in Week 12 at Tampa Bay in a game played in soaring humidity and 80 degree temperatures, Dieterich was pressed into service in the first series when Greco was lost for the day because of a leg injury. That game went five quarters before the Lions lost in overtime and Dieterich played every offensive down, shedding some 15 pounds of "water weight" in the process. And he played the Tampa Bay game with virtually no practice or conditioning time from the previous two months. Four days later he played the entire Thanksgiving Day game in a win over the Jets, and he remained the Lions' left guard for every offensive play the rest of the season (final four games). Although his knee injury was serious a year ago, it is the hip ailment that worries the Lions' brass each year. But it hasn't kept Dieterich from wanting to continue his NFL career: "Some people say I walk with a limp," relates Chris. "I don't know if I do or not . . . maybe I just limp from habit. But my grandfather (the man who reared Chris) had arthritis in both of his hips and he played soccer. There's really not a whole lot I can do about the hip. I just want to play." Says Darryl Rogers, "Chris is very strong, an excellent pass protector and has the savvy to play at this level. He also can play tackle, which is a plus for us. We hope he can remain healthy enough to help us because he's a fine, fine football player." Chris turned in an outstanding performance in Week 2 last year lining up against Randy White in the Lions' 26-21 upset of Dallas, according to offensive line Coach Bill Muir.

CAREER: Dieterich originally was cut by the Lions in '80, then resigned in Week 7 that year. . . . played in 8 games in '80, starting 3 — at right tackle. . . . missed five weeks in '81 with a knee injury and started no games that year. . . . played in 6 games in the strike-shortened '82 season and started 5 — at left tackle. . . . played all 16 games at OLT in '83, then started all 16 games in '84 — 10 at left guard and 6 at left tackle. Games: Played 62, Started 47.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Chris also played guard and tackle as a collegian, making All-Atlantic Coast Conference at tackle as a junior and at guard as a senior. . . . From East Setauket, N.Y. and Ward Melville High School. . . . Honorable Mention All-America at NC State in both his junior and senior seasons where he played for the late Robert "Bo" Rein. During the past off-season Chris began building a new home in Raleigh, N.C., where he has lived since graduating from college. He also is an old car buff and is rebuilding a 1934 Ford.

he sustained a serious shoulder injury in a preseason game at Seattle. Four days later he was placed on injured reserve and he remained there for the entire season. In fact, Kirk was one of seven Lions' linebackers who were mired on injured reserve for a total of 79 games in '85. "Kirk will get a legitimate chance to become a major contributor at inside linebacker for us this season," offered linebackers' Coach Mike Murphy about the now-healthy Dodge. "He's gained some weight and strength from a year ago which will help him at the 'Mike' (strong inside) linebacker spot. We also feel he'll be a plus to us on special teams." Dodge's main competition for '86 at the "Mike" position will be incumbent starter Kurt Allerman.

CAREER: Dodge was acquired as a free agent on Oct. 2, 1984, after being released in that season's final cut (to 49 players) by the Atlanta Falcons . . . Kirk was the Falcons' seventh-round draft pick (175th player chosen overall) in '84 . . . Used primarily on special teams by Detroit in '84, he had a fumble recovery of a blocked punt (by Roosevelt Barnes) in Washington (11/11/84).

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Kirk set a Nevada-Las Vegas tackling record his senior year with 132 tackles, including 16 tackles behind the line of scrimmage. He was named to the All-Pacific Coast Athletic Association first team and was an honorable mention AP All-America . . . Dodge played in the East-West Shrine game following his senior ('83) year . . . Born in Whittier, Calif., he graduated from Lowell High School in San Francisco . . . Kirk attended Fullerton (Junior) College prior to transferring to Nevada-Las Vegas, where he majored in business administration.

Keith Dorney • 70

TACKLE-GUARD • PENN STATE • 8th YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 285 • BORN: 12-3-57 • (D-1 IN '79)

1985: In a perfect world, or at least a perfect NFL, Keith Dorney would have been an All-Pro last season. The heart and soul of the Lions' offensive line for the past seven seasons, Dorney is the epitome of intensity and dedication. No Lions' player works harder or wants to win as badly as Keith. Last season he displayed unparalleled unselfishness. After ten near-flawless weeks at right tackle, Dorney essentially forfeited a shot at the Pro Bowl when he agreed to move to right guard in order to help the Lions' injury-depleted offensive line. "Keith's selflessness probably cost him a chance for the Pro Bowl, but it also proved how much he wants to help this team win," Lions' offensive line Coach Bill Muir explained. "He made the move (to guard) virtually without the benefit of any practice at that position and did a super job for us. Keith's ability to play more than one position allows us the luxury of then determining who our next best four offensive linemen are." In Detroit's wins over Atlanta, Dallas, San Francisco, Miami and Minnesota, Dorney didn't allow his man to get close to Lions' quarterbacks. And Dorney played the last eight weeks of the season with a broken big toe. "He sets the standard for others," Lions' Head Coach Darryl Rogers says. "He's a throwback to the old days, but even in the old days they didn't make them like Keith Dorney." Despite the broken toe, Dorney still led the offense in number of plays. "He seems to rise to the occasion to perform. I think he's one of the best offensive tackles in the league — period," adds Rogers. While his move from tackle to guard probably ruined his shot for the Pro Bowl, Dorney's exceptional play last season was not entirely overlooked. He was named first team All-NFC tackle by United Press International. And, now, according to Rogers, "Keith can be the best guard in the National Football League."

CAREER: Without question, one of the most consistent offensive tackles in the NFL over the past seven years . . . No. 1 draft choice of the Lions in 1979 (10th overall) and the first offensive lineman selected that year . . . Named to the Pro Football Writers All-Rookie team in '79 . . . Missed seven games his second season with a knee injury, but still returned to play in the final three games . . . In '81 he had a stellar season and was named All-NFC first team offensive tackle by UPI . . . Was awarded the following year with the Lions' offensive captaincy and responded with a performance that earned him a Pro Bowl selection . . . Entering the '83 campaign, both Dorney and the Lions had high hopes, and while the Lions did capture the NFC Central Division, Dorney's bid for a second consecutive Pro Bowl was lost when he injured his back in the weight room and was forced to miss Weeks 5, 6, & 7 . . . He did make a remarkably quick return from the back injury to start the final eight games and the playoff loss that year to San Francisco . . . The Lions' offensive captain the past four seasons, Keith has started 93 of the 94 games he's played since joining the Lions . . . The only game he didn't start was the Week 13 contest his second season when he was coming back from knee surgery. He wasn't expected to play the remainder of that season, let alone start the final three games.

Games: Played 94, Started 93.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Hailed as the nation's best offensive lineman in college during his senior year ('78) . . . Keith helped Penn State to a No. 1 ranking that year until the Nittany Lions lost to Alabama in the Sugar Bowl . . . An All-America as a junior, Keith was named to the first team on ten different All-America squads his senior year . . . He also was honored as an Academic All-America and finished college with a 3.3 grade average and a degree in business administration . . . Began his college career as a blocking tight end and started the 1975 Sugar Bowl as a freshman at that position . . . Started 12 games his sophomore year at center before switching to tackle . . . Captained the football and basketball teams and earned All-State honors in both sports at Emmaus High School in Emmaus, Pa. . . Keith's hometown is Macungie, Pa. . . After an "innocent" vacation trip to California following his rookie season with the Lions, Keith decided to make California his permanent off-season home . . . He does real-estate work in San Juan Capistrano, Calif., where he resides with his wife Katherine . . . His full name is Keith Robert Dorney.

Leon Evans • 66

DEFENSIVE END • MIAMI (FLA.) • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 282 • BORN: 10-12-61 • (FA IN '85)

1985: Leon Evans' head must have been spinning in October of '85. After being waived on Oct. 7 by the Eagles, Evans inked a free agent contract with the Lions on Oct. 16 when defensive end Martin Moss was placed on injured reserve.

However, Evans hadn't even unpacked his bags when, the next day, he was released when a more pressing need became apparent to Lions' coaches. Leading receiver Jeff Chadwick's collarbone injury proved more serious than first believed, and Evans' exit allowed wide receiver Carl Bland to rejoin the club. October's revolving door swung back in Leon's favor on Oct. 24 when he was again signed as a free agent, as linebacker James Harrell went on injured reserve to make room. Evans saw limited play over the final eight games of the season and recorded one solo tackle.

CAREER: Hard luck has characterized Evans' career prior to joining the Lions . . . He had a free agent tryout with the Redskins in '83 but was released prior to the opening of the season . . . Leon signed with the Eagles in '84 but served two stints on injured reserve (knee and foot) that forced him to miss all of that season.

Games: Played 8, Started 0.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Nagging injuries clouded his college career but he did letter three years ('79-'81) for Miami . . . Leon was a schoolboy All-America in both football and basketball (National High School Coaches Association) in '79 at Montgomery Blair High School in Silver Spring, Md. . . . He led Blair to the state basketball championship his sophomore and senior seasons, and was the Maryland State Basketball Tournament's MVP in '79 . . . Leon and his wife Karen live in West Chester, Pa., during the off-season.

Joe Ferguson • 12

QUARTERBACK • ARKANSAS • 14th YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 195 • BORN: 1-24-50 • (TRADE IN '85)

1985: Perhaps never has a Detroit Lions' player who played so little meant so much to the Lions as Joe Ferguson did last season. Acquired in a draft-day trade with Buffalo, Joe challenged Eric Hipple throughout training camp for the starting quarterback position, and it was one of the closest battles for a Lions' starting position in recent memory. Ferguson's preseason numbers: 32 completions, 52 attempts, (61.5%), and 397 yards, might have won him the starting job in most years, but Hipple had an even more impressive preseason and was named the starting quarterback. For the first time in his professional career (13 years), Joe entered a season without being his team's starting quarterback. But rather than sulk, Ferguson evolved into one of the most important players on the team. His veteran leadership proved invaluable, as did his knowledge of the game. One player who benefitted most from Ferguson's presence was Hipple, who had his best year as a pro. "There's so much I can say about Joe and it's all super positive," Hipple exclaimed. "First of all, he's a No. 1 team player. Joe puts the team above any personal goals he may have. Along with that, Joe taught me a lot about work habits," Hipple continued. "He's constantly studying and looking for ways to get the extra work that will help him and the team in the long run. When you see a guy working that hard toward the same goal, you work that much harder yourself." Ferguson could have made it much harder on Hipple and the team if he had decided to create a "quarterback controversy". But Joe proved what a consummate professional he is by placing the team first. "Even though I didn't play that much, I really enjoyed the season because of the way the situation was handled," Ferguson said. "Winning also makes it fun, and we won some games last season that no one expected us to win. I'm convinced Coach Rogers is going to win here. It may take a little time, but he's doing things the right way." When Ferguson did get to play last season, he proved he still has a lot of football left. To wit: Oct. 6 in Green Bay: Ferguson replaced Hipple in the second half and completed 10 of 11 passes for 139 yards and one touchdown. Oct. 20 vs. San Francisco: Ferguson replaced an injured Hipple late in the first half and helped lead the Lions to a 23-21 victory over the defending Super Bowl XIX Champion 49ers. Joe played the entire second half and completed 6 of 12 passes for 61 yards. Nov. 3 at Minnesota: Ferguson twice replaced an injured Hipple and helped the Lions come back from a 13-3 deficit to tie the game before the Vikings kicked a field goal on the last play to win. Joe completed 2 of 3 passes and scored the Lions' only touchdown on a one-yard sneak. Dec. 15 vs. Green Bay: Ferguson replaced an injured Hipple late in the game with the Lions trailing 23-17. Joe tossed a 30-yard touchdown pass to Leonard Thompson with 1:08 remaining to tie the game. Dec. 22. vs. Chicago: Named to start, Joe came out firing against the eventual Super Bowl Champions, completing 2 of 3 passes before being knocked unconscious and out of the game early in the first quarter. "Joe did all we asked of him last season and more," said Darryl Rogers. "Joe not only was a big help to the team last season, but to me as well. There were some aspects of the NFL that were foreign to me and having Joe around was a big plus. He brought veteran stability, experience and quite a bit of ability to the team. This season ('86) he'll have an even better opportunity to be the starting quarterback because he'll be better settled with the offense and the terminology."

CAREER: One of the top quarterbacks in the modern era of the NFL, Ferguson ranks among the "Top Twenty" quarterbacks of all-time in the following categories: Total Passes Attempted: 4,220 (12th on the all-time list); Total Touchdown Passes: 183 (Tied for 19th on the all-time list); Total Passes Completed: 2,219 (13th on the all-time list) and Total Yards Passing: 27,954 (14th on the all-time list) . . . He may have passed fellow Louisianian Terry Bradshaw for 13th place in total yards (Bradshaw has 35 more yards) had he not been injured in the season finale against the Bears . . . If Ferguson had compiled all his passing statistics as a Lions' quarterback, he would be Detroit's all-time leader in the following categories: most attempts; most completions; total passing yards; total touchdown passes; and most passes intercepted . . . The starter at Buffalo from the first game of his rookie year, Joe holds all the Bills' career passing records, as well as the franchise's record for most games played (168) and most seasons (12) . . . Perhaps Joe's best game as a pro came against Miami in 1983 when he set a single game club record when he passed for 419 yards on a 38 of 55 performance with a record-tying five touchdown passes in a 38-35 Buffalo win in the Orange Bowl . . . Joe completed 50 percent or more of his passes in cold, windy Buffalo in 9 of his last 11 seasons there.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Joe was selected this past offseason to the prestigious National High School Sports Hall of Fame . . . Was MVP of the Southwest Conference as a junior . . . Named to the Hula Bowl, North-South and East-West Shrine teams following his senior year . . . Also played in the now-defunct College All-Star Game (vs. previous year's Super Bowl Champion) . . . Joe led Arkansas to the Liberty Bowl as a junior . . . Has a B.S. Degree in physical education and is a product of Woodlawn High School in Shreveport, La., where he still makes his home with his wife Sandi and their two children, Kristen and Joseph Carlton III . . . Woodlawn High also is the alma mater of Terry Bradshaw . . . Joe owns a single engine Cessna, which he pilots during the offseason for business and recreation trips . . . Joe is an avid hunter, golfer and enjoys fishing.

Keith Ferguson • 77

DEFENSIVE END • OHIO STATE • 6th YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 260 • BORN: 4-3-59 • (WAIVERS IN '85)

1985: Following four seasons and 11 weeks with the San Diego Chargers, Keith Ferguson was placed on waivers by San Diego last Nov. 21. He was quickly claimed by the Lions, a team that already had lost defensive lineman Doug English and Martin Moss to the injured reserve list. Three days later, in a game at Tampa Bay, Ferguson played throughout much of the contest, and he then became a starter for Detroit's final four games of the season. "I enjoy being here with the Lions," said Ferguson shortly after joining the team. "The team atmosphere is good. At San Diego last year they were going in a different direction. They said I was too old and I was only 26. Here, I'm with a team that's getting better and they want me." True enough. Not only did Ferguson start the final four games of '85, he finished with 2½ sacks, 11 tackles, 9 assisted tackles and a pair of forced fumbles. "We thought he played exceptionally well for us," reports Darryl Rogers. "He's an excellent outside pass rusher." Echoes DL Coach Rex Norris, "Keith gets up the field with his outside rush as well as anyone we have. He can become an important player for us."

CAREER: Ferguson's best single game performance came in an '81 game against the Colts. A rookie that year, he played that day at defensive tackle for the Chargers when injuries took out starters Louie Kelcher and Gary Johnson and racked up three sacks. . . . In 67 Chargers' games between '81 and November '85, he had 21½ sacks for 165 yards in losses and led San Diego in sacks in '82, '83, and '84 (8 sacks). . . . Came to the Chargers as a linebacker who weighed 231 pounds and bulked up to his present 260, becoming a full-time starter by his second season in '82. . . . Had a string of 67 consecutive NFL games snapped in Week 11 last year at Denver when he did not play. He was waived after that contest. . . . He started the first seven games of '85 for San Diego, then a knee injury slowed him, eventually costing him his starting position. . . . Had a career-high 55 tackles in '83. . . . has played both left and right defensive end in the pros. . . . Ferguson was the 131st player taken in the '81 draft, the Chargers' fifth-round pick that year.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: A linebacker at Ohio State his final two seasons after playing offensive tackle as a sophomore, Ferguson played for Woody Hayes his first two years and for Earl Bruce his last two. . . . Served as Buckeyes' defensive captain as a senior. . . . hails from Miami, Fla., where he also starred in basketball as well as football at Edison High School. . . . Father of a son, K. C. Eugene. . . . Started 36 consecutive games at Ohio State and had 21 sacks his final two years while playing OLB. . . . Full name is Keith Tyrone Ferguson.

William Frizzell • 26

SAFETY • NORTH CAROLINA CENTRAL • 3rd YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 198 • BORN: 9-8-62 • (D-10 IN '84)

1985: William Fizzell (pronounced Frizz-ZELL) was among a number of Lions mired on the injured shelf for much of '85. He missed the first half of the season after he sustained a severely sprained ankle in the final pre-season game against the Eagles. His chance to return to the active roster came after his former college teammate, cornerback Arnold Brown, fractured his elbow in Week 8 against the Dolphins. "Frizz" made the most of his comeback in his first game (Week 9 at Minnesota) when he intercepted a Tommy Kramer pass that led to an Eddie Murray field goal. In the Thanksgiving Day win over the Jets, Frizzell had his finest hour when he got in on four tackles and deflected a pair of Ken O'Brien passes. Though he opened training camp as a reserve cornerback, William was used as a backup safety and played on special teams once he returned from his pre-season injury. However, Frizzell's role in 1986 will likely be broadened. Defensive backs' Coach Willie Shaw will experiment with Frizzell during training camp as the Lions' starting free safety. "William has good range and height," said Shaw. "The move will give him a chance to use his ability in the middle of the defense."

CAREER: Frizzell beat the odds by making the Lions' roster after he was a tenth-round draft choice (260th player overall) in '84 . . . He was used extensively in the nickel defense and on special teams as a rookie, and he blocked a punt against the Redskins' Jeff Hayes (11/11/84) . . . Lions' scouts have clocked him at 4.6 in the 40-yard dash.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: William is nicknamed "Frizz" with the Lions, was known as "Freeze" in college, and was called "Boo Boo" as a child after the cartoon character in Yogi Bear . . . In fact, his car's license plate bears "YOGI 1" . . . William had five pass interceptions as a college senior, including one returned for an 82-yard touchdown . . . He starred in football, basketball and track at J.H. Rose High School in Greenville, N.C. . . . William resides in Rochester, Mich., during the off-season and he married the former Cheryl Welch last winter . . . His full name is William Jasper Frizzell.

William Gay • 79

DEFENSIVE END • SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA • 9th YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 260 • BORN: 5-28-55 • (TRADE IN '78)

1985: At 31, William Gay enters his ninth year with the Lions, and despite the team having switched from its traditional 43 defense to a 34 defense in 1985, and despite a decrease in Gay's sack totals the past two years, don't assume that his performance in 1985 was subpar. Gay led the team in minutes played with a startling 546 minutes, one of just two Lions to play more than 500 minutes in '85 and the other Lion, cornerback Bobby Watkins, played 44 less minutes than Gay. William also led all defensive linemen in tackles with 66, including 52 solo tackles, and in sacks with seven (he had 10 in '84 and 13½ in '83). And he recovered six fumbles a year ago, just two off the team record of eight set by Joe Schmidt in 1955, and the most by any defender in the NFL in '85. Gay also intercepted a pass against Dallas and returned it seven yards to set up the Lions' first score in Week 2, keying a 26-21 upset of the Cowboys. And, he batted down four passes, forced two fumbles, blocked a field goal and assisted on 14 tackles. "Really, Bill has had three good seasons in a row for the Lions," says Darryl Rogers, "and his leadership for last year's team was good." Rogers made Gay the team's defensive captain in Week 11 after Doug English was lost to the team for the balance of the season with a neck injury. He switched back-and-forth from his normal defensive end spot, right end, to left end, after English was hurt since left end Eric Williams had to be moved to nose tackle to replace English. That was nothing new to Gay. Having come to the Lions as a tight end his rookie year, then having made the switch to defense, the likeable Californian has played all the defensive line positions in the 43 defense since becoming a Lion. He also played a tight end in short yardage situations with the offense last year. "William is our right defensive end and we'd like to leave him there since I believe he'll play that spot even better this year after getting a year under his belt in the 34 defense," adds Rogers. "Like all our defensive ends, he has been playing in the four-man line his entire career and he just needs to pinch down a little harder this year." Says Gay, "Playing the 34 defense is a lot of work. In it I'm more of a tackle/end. I play in gaps between two men. It takes away a lot of the fanciness. You just have to get upfield, get in the quarterback's face and make him move." Gay also hopes to play several more seasons, all with the Lions: "I've been here eight years and I'm happy where I'm at. I like the guys here, I've been treated fairly, I have no beef. I want to finish my career here." As far as his '85 performance, he says, "I played consistently, steady, not great, but okay. So often a defensive lineman is measured by his number of sacks. That's just one way to measure a player's performance over a full season."

CAREER: Gay was a 225 pound tight end as a rookie after the Broncos made him their second-round draft choice in '78. . . . The Lions gave Denver a sixth-round draft choice and defensive back Charlie West to complete the trade (8/14/78). . . . A vigorous weight trainer, William has added 35 pounds since becoming a defensive lineman in 1979. . . . He backed up David Hill at tight end for the Lions as a rookie but did not catch a pass. . . . He became a full-time starter in 1982 and made the '83 NFC Pro Bowl squad. . . . Notched 5½ sacks in the opener at Tampa Bay in '83. . . . Has 13 career fumble recoveries, most of any Lion, and entering '86, he has 51 career sacks.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: The son of a military man and one of eight children, Gay attended San Diego City College and played linebacker before transferring to USC, where he became a tight end, playing there for both John McKay and John Robinson. . . . Led Southern Cal in minutes played his final two seasons, beginning the foundation of a yeoman performance that he has carried over into professional football (i.e., Gay has never had a debilitating injury during his college and pro career). . . . Caught 26 passes in a run-oriented offense for the Trojans. . . . He and his wife Gwen have a son Ruben and daughter Lauren and live in Rochester, Mich., year-around. . . . His full name is William H. Gay. . . . attended San Diego Hoover High School.

Kevin Glover • 53

CENTER-GUARD • MARYLAND • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 267 • BORN: 6-17-63 • (D-2 IN '85)

1985: Of the Lions' rookies who played in seven or more games last year, No. 2 pick Kevin Glover played the least. The center-guard from Maryland appeared in just 43 minutes over the first ten games of the season. And when it appeared he would receive considerably more playing time over the season's final six weeks, Kevin suffered a knee injury in practice that ended his rookie season. The week of his injury, Glover had been moved to left guard from center and was scheduled to start that week's game against Minnesota. The knee injury came when he fell over an offensive teammate in a practice blocking drill. His knee was placed in a cast but it did not require surgery. During mini-camp drills this spring, Glover received extensive work at guard, a position he played sparingly in college. "Kevin has the ability and potential to be a good NFL lineman," reports Darryl Rogers, "and he looked a little better at guard once we moved him there last year. The injury certainly held him back. This year we have to find out for sure whether guard or center is his best position." Even though he'll see considerably more work at guard, offensive line Coach Bill Muir indicated Glover will remain the team's backup center. He is not used by the Lions as a long snapper, however. Games: Played, 10; Started, 0.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Named The Sporting News All-America center following his senior season at Maryland (that All-America team is selected by NFL personnel directors), Glover anchored the Maryland offensive line his junior and senior seasons, two years that the Terps set 51 school offensive records. . . . Also started at center for the winning squads in both the Hula and Senior Bowls following his senior season. He roomed with the Lions' No. 1 '85 draft choice Lomas Brown at the Senior Bowl in Mobile that year . . . Glover's play in those latter two contests improved his draft stock. "I was told that I would be drafted in rounds 3 to 5 by most scouts before those games," reports Glover. "I guess I helped myself in the Lions' eyes with my effort in those games." . . . Born in Washington D.C., Kevin attended Largo High School in Largo, Md., where he was an all-state gridder his senior year and where he also earned letters in basketball, wrestling and track and field . . . his major at Maryland was recreation . . . William Graham • 33

SAFETY • TEXAS • 5th YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 191 • BORN: 9-27-59 • (D-5 IN '82)

1985: William Graham left little doubt where he stood during the '85 season. "Wayne (Fontes) says it and Willie (Shaw) reinforces it," stated Graham late in the '85 campaign. "They say, 'You guys are professionals. We've prepared you and you know what to do. Now go out and do it.' Can you imagine how well we, as players, can thrive under that type of atmosphere?" Indeed, Graham and his fellow defensive backs did thrive as the Lions' pass defense vaulted from being ranked 23rd in the NFL in '84 to fifth a year ago. William, who was the Lions' strong safety his first three seasons, was switched to free safety in '85 and led the club in total tackles (113), solo tackles (75) and assists (38). His six assisted tackles against the Patriots in Week 14 was a Lions' high, and he helped the 41-21 rout of the Vikings in Week 11 with a pair of pass interceptions, including one he returned 22 yards for a career best. The native Texan also did heavy duty destruction on the Dallas Cowboys in Week 2. William was in on 10 tackles in that game and also intercepted a Danny White pass in the end zone during the first quarter to snuff a Cowboys' drive. Further, he contributed his first career sack when he hauled down Tampa Bay's Steve DeBerg for a two-yard loss in the Lions' 30-9 romp in Week 4. Graham, who likely will be shifted back to strong safety for '86, has started and played in 23 straight games, and was one of nine Lions (six on defense, including the entire defensive backfield) who started each game in '85.

CAREER: Graham has been among the Lions' leaders in tackles the past three seasons . . . He was second on the club in tackles and tied linebacker Garry Cobb with a team-high three fumble recoveries (including two against the Bears, 10/30/83) in '83 . . . Despite missing two games with an elbow injury, he still ranked second in solo tackles (96) in '84 . . . William intercepted two passes against the Bears on 12/16/84 . . . Graham missed the first two regular-season games of his rookie year ('82) after he sustained a broken ankle in training camp . . . Graham has started both of the Lions' playoff games in the '80s . . . He was in on six tackles in the '82 post-season against the Redskins and had five tackles and three assists against the 49ers in the '83 playoffs.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: William is nicknamed "Glove" since he often wears white golfing gloves while playing . . . He was a three-year letterman at Texas where he was an All-Southwest Conference pick as a junior and

Don Greco • 67

GUARD • WESTERN ILLINOIS • 5th YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 265 • BORN: 4-1-59 • (D-3 IN '81)

1985: It isn't difficult to characterize Don Greco's feelings during the '85 campaign: Frustration! Don injured his shoulder in the season-opener against Atlanta and landed on the injured reserve list for four weeks. He returned to play the middle eight games of the season only to suffer an ankle injury that again put him on the shelf. Though he suited, Greco did not play during the year's last four games. He also was bothered by a concussion throughout the season. "It was an extremely frustrating year for Don," emphasized offensive line Coach Bill Muir. "He's a veteran who has proven he can play effectively, but he was never able to put together any sustained activity last year due to injuries. To Don's credit, several times he played because we needed him (with so many injuries to other linemen) and not because he was really physically ready to play." Considered an excellent trap blocker who also rarely gives up a sack to an opponent when pass blocking, Greco appears to be healthy for '86 and ready to battle to regain his starting right guard slot. He did start six games in '85, four at right guard and two on the left side, but his playing time was limited to only 122 minutes. Remarkably, Greco and the Lions' other regular starting guard, Chris Dieterich, were in the lineup together only 5.5 minutes (in the season-opener at Atlanta) the entire year due to injuries.

CAREER: Greco has tremendous strength, if not the hulking size of some offensive lineman . . . He is a weight lifting devotee who set a club standard in the leg press as a rookie at 830 pounds . . . Don was the Lions' third pick in the '81 draft, selected after first-rounder Mark Nichols and Curtis Green (second round) . . . He sat out his entire rookie season ('81) with a shoulder injury that was sustained in the first preseason game . . . Greco did prove to be an ironman from '82-'84 when he missed only a four-game stretch in '83 with a foot injury . . . He played above injury (starting all 16 games) in '84 but he did require surgery following that season . . . Despite injuries, he became a fixture at right guard after he got his first start (for veteran Russ Bolinger, who was benched and later traded to the Rams) at Green Bay on Dec. 12, 1982 . . . During that game, Don helped open holes for a 109-yard Billy Sims' rushing outburst in a 30-10 Detroit win.

Games: Played 47, Started 40.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Don was a two-time small college All-America (AP in '79, Kodak in '80), and was voted Western Illinois' co-MVP and the Mid-Continent Conference's "Offensive Lineman of the Year" in 1980 . . . He also was a WIU Leatherneck four-year letterman and started 39 straight games . . . Lions' linebacker

Coach Mike Murphy, who coached at Western during Greco's sophomore season ('77), describes him as "an offensive lineman with a defensive lineman's personality." . . . Remarkably, Don was a 119-pound freshman defensive tackle at St. Louis' (Mo.) Riverview Garden High School, but he bulked up to 215 pounds as a senior through weight lifting . . . Greco, who resides in St. Louis during the off-season, attended classes this past winter at Missouri-St. Louis . . . His full name is Donald Greco.

Curtis Green • 62

DEFENSIVE END • ALABAMA STATE • 6th YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 265 • BORN: 6-3-57 • (D-2 IN '81)

1985: "Jack-of-All-Trades" would aptly describe the role Curtis Green filled for the Lions last season. One of the Lions' most unheralded, yet talented, defensive linemen, Curtis played all three line positions in '85 and performed extremely well. "Curtis was one of our most productive defensive linemen last season," said Lions' Defensive Coordinator Wayne Fontes. "He was playing very well early in the year until a back injury caused him to miss some time. It took him a while to get over that injury, but once he did, he performed excellently for us." Curtis played in 15 games for the Lions, starting five at left end and the final three games at nose tackle. Despite registering only the 10th highest number of minutes played among Lions' defensive linemen, Green was second on the team with seven quarterback sacks. He also recorded 45 tackles (35 solo), recovered one fumble and forced one fumble. "Entering camp this season, Curtis will be listed as the starting left end," Fontes said. "He's one of the very few guys who has the ability to essentially give us an extra player at all three defensive line positions. His play at nose tackle at the end of the season was a real pleasant surprise." Green replaced an injured Eric Williams at nose tackle for the final three games, and in his first start at that position, he recorded 14 tackles (11 solo) against the New England Patriots. That was the highest single-game tackle total for any Lions' defender last season.

CAREER: A steady performer since joining the Lions, his play early in his career was overshadowed by more recognized defensive linemen — Doug English, Bubba Baker and William Gay — all of whom have been selected to the Pro Bowl . . . Started five games and played in 14 as a rookie ('81) and was named to the Pro Football Writers' All-Rookie Team that year . . . He started the '82 opener, but was bothered by an ankle injury most of the season and didn't start another game until the playoff contest against the Redskins, in which he had five tackles . . . Had an excellent season in '83 when he started all 16 games and finished third on the club with 5½ sacks . . . Also had a sack in the '83 playoff game against San Francisco . . . Curtis recovered from a pulled hamstring in '84 training camp and went on to start 15 games and finish second on the team with 8 sacks.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Curtis was a three-year starter at Alabama State where he recorded 20 sacks and 252 tackles during his college career . . . Most Valuable Player of the Sheridan Black All-Star Game in '80 . . . Also played in the Blue-Grey Classic where he was used at both defensive end and linebacker . . . Was Alabama State's Most Valuable Player as a senior . . . Was a standout in football and basketball at Shanks High School in Quincy, Fla. . . . A physical education major in college, Curtis and his wife Patricia have a son Carlos Donald (10/14/85) and they live in Montgomery, Ala., during the off-season. His full name is Curtis Green.

Alvin Hall • 35

SAFETY • MIAMI (OHIO) • 6th YEAR
HT: 5-10 • WT: 184 • BORN: 8-12-58 • (FA IN '81)

1985: The player known as "Stoney" to his teammates because he hits so hard, "like a man made of stone," Alvin Hall was the Detroit Lions' 1985 MVP on special teams by vote of his teammates. His stellar play last season included his setting three Lions' records in kickoff return categories — most returns in a season (39), most returns in a career (122) and most career kickoff return yardage (2,714). A coverage demon in punt and kickoff coverages as well, Alvin also excelled as a member of the Lions' nickel and dime defensive secondary packages — finishing '85 with 28 tackles, 7 assisted tackles, 1 sack, 1 batted down pass and 1 forced fumble. "Alvin is a very fine, all-around player and a leader on this team," says Darryl Rogers. "He was most deserving of the special teams award last year, and I had hoped that he would be recognized by players around the league for his special teams play and be named the special teams performer on the Pro Bowl team. I can't imagine anyone in the league contributing more on (special) teams to their squad than Alvin contributed to ours." Alvin returned one kickoff 54 yards last year, on Dec. 15 against Green Bay at the Silverdome, and he averaged 22.7 yards per return for the year. He also served as the Lions' backup punt returner to Pete Mandley but was not needed to return any punts in '85.

CAREER: Hall originally made the Lions as a "walk-on" following a free agent tryout at an all-comers camp in 1981. He had been cut by the Browns the previous year after attending Cleveland's '80 training camp as a free agent. . . . Prior to last year, Hall had started 41 consecutive games for the Lions at free safety but relinquished that position in '85 to William Graham. Entering '86 training camp, Lions' coaches planned to return Graham to strong safety and that move again would put Hall in competition for the starting free safety job with William Frizzell and rookie Devon Mitchell. . . . In '81, the year Hall made the Lions as a free agent, he beat out four rookie draft choices — all defensive backs — for a spot on the roster. . . . He led the Lions in minutes played in '83 with 524.6 minutes. . . . Alvin led the team in kickoff returns as a rookie in '81, and also in '82 (averaging a career-best 26.6 yards per return, which led the NFC), '83 and '85. . . . His longest kickoff return came against the Packers (12/12/82) and covered 96 yards for a TD. . . . Alvin has 6 career interceptions.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: He was a starter at free safety for three years for the Miami Redskins (1977-79) and helped lead Miami to the Mid-American Conference championship in '77. . . . Hall led Miami in interceptions his senior season with three. . . . A product of Dayton Fairview High School in Dayton, Ohio, Alvin lives in nearby Rochester with his wife Shari and daughters Candi and Sheena. . . . His full name is Alvin Eugene Hall.

NEW RULES FOR 1986 SEASON

Action taken by NFL executives at the League's 1986 annual meeting in Palm Springs, Calif., included the adoption of the following rule changes:

- Made it illegal by rule for a player to wear equipment that tends to advertise or has markings other than team logo.
- Further protected a defender from having a safety scored on his team by deleting the provision for a specific five yard area in determining when the player's intercepting momentum carries him into the end zone.
- Stipulated that a fumble that is not recovered will return to the fumbling team at the spot of the fumble if it goes forward unless the ball goes out of the opponent's end zone. In this case the defensive team is to take possession at the spot of the fumble.
- Clarified present rule regarding equipment requirements for kicking shoes.
- Provided that only the player who gives a fair catch signal and muffs the ball be given the opportunity to make the catch free from interference.
- If the clock is stopped to mark off a penalty and the offensive team then commits a foul between downs before the two minute warning in a half, the clock will start on the snap.
- Extended prohibition concerning the no blocking below the waist rule on punts through the entire down — from the snap until the play ends.
- League policy prohibiting chop blocks will be extended to a player lined up outside of a tackle who deliberately blocks (chops) an opponent in the area of the thigh or lower even though the tackle shows pass set and does not engage the opponent being blocked.
- Established an instant replay system as an aid to officiating.

James Harrell • 58

OUTSIDE LINEBACKER • FLORIDA • 7th YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 230 • BORN: 7-19-57 • (WAIVERS IN '79)

1985: James Harrell once again became a starting linebacker for the Lions when he opened at inside linebacker in Week 2 against the Dallas Cowboys. He had been a starter as a rookie during the final nine games of '79 and started three games in the strike-shortened '82 season. Once inserted into the lineup last fall, he made the most of his opportunity, winning a game ball in the 26-21 Lions' victory at the Silverdome. In that game he intercepted a Danny White pass and returned it 20 yards to the Cowboys' two-yard line to set up James Jones' TD plunge for what ultimately was the game-deciding touchdown. Harrell also had 11 solo tackles and batted away another aerial. Starting the following week against Indianapolis, he had four tackles and an assist, but through Weeks 4-7 he once again became a Lions' substitute when veteran free agent Kurt Allerman was acquired and replaced Harrell in the starting lineup. Then injury struck. After rejoining the Lions following a spring league season with the Tampa Bay Bandits of the USFL where he had been a first team all-league selection, Harrell discovered like so many other pro footballers of recent seasons that playing more than 30 pro games in a calendar year takes too much of a physical toll. Inflammation in his lower back eight weeks into the Lions' '85 season rendered Harrell hors de combat, and he was placed on the club's injured reserve list on Oct. 24 and remained there the rest of the season. Entering '86 pre-season, Harrell had been returned to outside linebacker to compete for a job there. Prior to '85, he had always played on the outside.

CAREER: A career-long substitute, Harrell was a backup outside linebacker and special teams ace for the Lions for most of five seasons ('79-83) after being claimed on waivers in 1979 from the Denver Broncos. . . . After playing out his contract with the Lions in 1983, he joined the USFL Bandits, where he became a starter at left linebacker and was named All-USFL in '83 and '84. . . . Originally signed by the Broncos as a free agent. . . . Spent time on IR with the Lions in '79 with a shoulder injury and again in '80 with a knee injury, in addition to his nine weeks on IR a year ago. . . . He racked up 62 tackles with 33 assists — his career best — as a rookie in '79.

COLLEGE AND PERSONAL: Also a career-long backup at the University of Florida ("I played behind All-Americans every year."), Harrell hails from Tampa where he attended Chamberlain High School. . . . His B.S. degree is in public relations. . . . During Harrell's first five-year stint with the Lions, his playing weight hovered between 215 and 220. He now plays between 230 and 235. . . . Harrell played a total of 31 pro games in '85, counting exhibitions. . . . His full name is James Clarence Harrell, Jr., and he and his wife Shirley own an off-season home in Tampa. . . . Harrell plans to enter broadcast journalism following his playing career.

Eric Hipple • 17

QUARTERBACK • UTAH STATE • 7th YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 198 • BORN: 9-16-57 • (D-4 IN '80)

1985: Critics be silenced. The apprenticeship is over. Eric Hipple came of age last year. "Hip" took command of the Lions' starting quarterback job after a ballyhooed training camp competition with veteran Joe Ferguson. Hipple went on to start 15 of the season's 16 games, while Ferguson and Offensive Coordinator Bob Baker proved to be major assets as Eric's tutors along the sidelines. Final '85 statistics found Hipple setting personal bests in single-season pass attempts (406), completions (223), completion percentage (54.9), yards passing (2,952 — third best in Lions' history), and TD tosses (17). "Eric has proven he can win, and he has a knack for making something happen when he's in there," praised Darryl Rogers. "He's the catalyst to our offense now, but he's only scratched the surface of how good a quarterback he's going to be." Hipple shined when the Lions needed it the most, particularly in brilliant outings against defending AFC champion Miami in Week 8 and on Thanksgiving Day (Week 13) versus the New York Jets. Eric was tabbed as the NFC's Offensive Player of the Week after he completed 14 of 19 pass attempts for 239 yards and three TDs in the 31-21 win over the Dolphins, and he starred in the 31-20 romp over the Jets when he passed for 269 yards and four TDs (three to Leonard Thompson). He also passed for three TDs in the Lions' victories over the Falcons (Week 1) and the Vikings (Week 11). "Hipple is the key to the improvement the Lions have made, no question about it," said New England Head Coach Raymond Berry late in the '85 campaign. "He has a quick release, he's fast on his feet, and he throws a minimum of interceptions." What has made Hipple's success even more praiseworthy is that he played and practiced throughout much of '85 while nursing an assortment of knee, head, back, chest and rib maladies and while playing in front of an injury-riddled offensive line.

Hipple continued

CAREER: The Lions' are 25-22 (19-4 in the Silverdome) with Hipple as their starting QB, while they are just 7-19-1 during that same span ('81-85) with other starting quarterbacks . . . His career total of 8,539 passing yards ranks fourth on the Lions' all-time list . . . Eric's first career start was a dandy, when he passed for a personal-high 336 yards, threw four TD passes, and rushed for two scores in front of 71,273 Silverdome fans in a Monday night (10/19/81) 48-17 romp over the Bears . . . Hipple's first career TD pass (in that win over the Bears) was a two-yarder to Rick Kane, but his fourth (and final) scoring toss of that evening was a 94-yarder to Leonard Thompson which still ranks as the third longest in Lions' history . . . Eric led the Lions to six wins in their final 10 games in '81, led all NFL quarterbacks with seven rushing TDs and was voted Detroit's offensive MVP . . . His roller coaster career saw him displaced as the Lions' starter after just four games in '82 only to regain the job in '83 and lead Detroit to the NFC Central Division crown (the Lions' first title since the 1957 NFL Championship) . . . Injuries and a fall from favor limited Hip to just one start in '84 . . . Eric missed the post-'83 season playoff game with the 49ers due to a knee injury, but he did hit 22 of 38 passes for 298 yards and one TD in an '82 playoff loss to the Redskins . . . He was the Lions' fourth-round draft pick in '80 and spent his rookie season as the Lions' holder for place-kicker Eddie Murray.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: The Downey, Calif., native was a four-year starter at Utah State where he led the Aggies to Pacific Coast Athletic Association co-championships in '78 and '79 . . . He ranked 6th in the NCAA and first in the PCAA with 1,924 yards passing as a senior ('79) and had career totals of 6,073 yards, 459 completions in 850 attempts and 34 TD passes . . . He has a degree in Computer Science from Utah State . . . Eric, his wife Jann, daughter Erica and son Jeffrey reside during the off-season in Dana Point, Calif. — just five minutes away from teammate and scuba-diving chum Keith Dorney . . . Always active in community projects, Eric will be a spokesman for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation in '86 . . . His full name is Eric Ellsworth Hipple.

1985: Playing exclusively on special teams as a rookie, June James made the '85 Lions as a low-round draft choice by playing with a nasty disposition from the first day of training camp last July through the end of the season in December. "He'll hit you, then he'll hit you again," is the way Lions' Defensive Coordinator Wayne Fontes puts it. This year, Fontes and his staff will be teaching James a new position — inside linebacker in the 34 defense. Prior to last spring's mini-camp, James had been an outside linebacker. As a special teams stickout last fall, James had 12 solo tackles and 4 assists and recovered 1 fumble. In very limited action with the defense, he was credited with one defended pass. He played in all 16 games.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: A three-year starter at weakside linebacker for the Texas Longhorns, James had an outstanding senior season with 120 total tackles, 19 quarterback pressures, 3 fumble recoveries and 5 defended passes. For his career, he totaled 244 tackles with 1 interception. A product of Kansas City, Mo., June is a bachelor. His full name is June James IV. He was born in Jennings, La.

SAFETY • MISSOURI • 4th YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 190 • BORN: 7-21-61 • (D-5A IN '83)

1985: Given the chance to be a regular for the first time in his career, Demetrious Johnson became the "big play" man on the Lions' defense. D.J. started all 16 games at strong safety, thanks in part, to the switch of former strong safety William Graham to free safety. "Demetrious came up with a lot of big plays for us last season," Lions' secondary Coach Willie Shaw said. "He showed us in the mini-camps ('85) that he had really improved to a point where we could count on him as a starter. We are looking for him to be more consistent this year." Johnson made his presence felt early in the season when he had a "career game" in a Week 4 contest against Tampa Bay. He recorded six tackles, one assist, one sack for 15 yards, one interception, three passes defended — including one in the end zone that prevented a TD, two forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. One of the fumble recoveries came on a play where D.J. actually stole the ball from a Bucs' receiver and returned it 24 yards. D.J., who also is known as the "Doctor" to teammates, finished second on the team (behind Graham) in tackles with 97 (72 solo), while adding three sacks, three interceptions, three forced fumbles (high on the team), four fumble recoveries and seven passes batted down.

A. J. Jones • 34

RUNNING BACK • TEXAS • 5th YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 215 • BORN: 5-30-59 • (FA IN '85)

1985: A. J. Jones played the least of any member of the '85 Lions of those players who played one-half season or more. In limited action covering eight games, Jones played just 36½ minutes. It was the fourth consecutive year that Jones has played in the NFL but he has yet to start a game. Statistically in '85, he had one carry for two yards. He also returned 10 kickoffs for an average of 22.6 yards per return. Jones was acquired as a free agent by the Lions on 10/29/85. . . . His chances of remaining with the Lions this year may hinge on his ability to fill in at both halfback and fullback.

CAREER: Although he has been known as A. J. Jones throughout his high school (Youngstown, Ohio) college and pro playing career, Jones is really A. L. Jones, although he uses "A.J." because of the initials in his first and last names. He also is known as "Jam" Jones, a nickname he had throughout his college career at Texas (at one time, the Longhorns had three Jones' on offense —

"Lam," "Ham" and "Jam.") . . . Originally an eighth round draft choice by the Rams in '82, he played 28 games over three seasons for Los Angeles but never started a game and never carried the ball in a regular season contest. . . . He did carry 4 times for 27 yards in a playoff game with the Rams. . . . He was waived by LA at the end of the '85 training camp and was out of football the first eight weeks of last season.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: During his four-year career at Texas, he gained 2,874 yards on 645 carries (4.5 average) and 27 touchdowns. . . . Finished as No. 4 all-time rusher in school history. . . . Caught 24 passes for another 382 yards. . . . A. J. was an honorable mention All-America and second team All-Southwest Conference selection as a senior, and he played in the Olympia Gold Bowl all-star game following that season. . . . A bachelor, his full name is Anthony Levine Jones and he lives during the off-season in Youngstown, Ohio. . . . His brother, Mike Jones, was a substitute running back with Oakland in the USFL for a year.

James Jones • 30

FULLBACK • FLORIDA • 4th YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 229 • BORN: 3-21-61 • (D-1 IN '83)

1985: If there was a model of consistency and excellence for the Lions in '85, it was fullback James Jones. For the second consecutive season, "J.J." led the Lions in rushing (886 yards) and in touchdowns (9), despite missing two full games and most of a third with a severe thigh bruise sustained in the season opener at Atlanta. In that initial contest of the year against the Falcons, Jones nearly won the game single-handedly for the Lions with two touchdowns, including a brilliant 21-yard scamper in the second half that gave Detroit its winning points. James was fully recovered from the thigh bruise when the previous year's Super Bowl participants invaded the Silverdome on back-to-back weekends in October. With Wilbert Montgomery on the sidelines nursing a knee injury, the Lions resorted to a one-back format against the 49ers and Dolphins, which meant both defenses knew J.J. would be the focal point of the Lions' offense. Jones responded with a Herculean effort against both opponents and led the Lions to an unprecedented accomplishment — consecutive home victories on back-to-back weekends over the previous year's Super Bowl teams. Against the 49ers, J.J. scored one touchdown and recorded the first 100-yard rushing game of his career with 116 yards on 30 carries in the Lions' 23-21 victory. The following week against Miami, he tied the Lions' all-time single-game record with 36 carries, while gaining 114 yards and scoring two touchdowns as Detroit defeated Miami 31-21. At one point in the second half against the Dolphins, Jones carried the ball on 10 of 12 plays during a series that ended with him scoring a one-yard touchdown. The 66 carries against San Francisco and Miami turned out to be the highest consecutive two-game total in Lions' history. Possessing perhaps the best pair of hands on the Lions' squad, J.J. finished second on the club with 45 receptions and three touchdowns receiving. He registered 886 yards rushing on 244 attempts and scored six touchdowns on the ground. His efforts didn't go unnoticed as his teammates elected him the Lions' Most Valuable Player on offense for the second consecutive year. "James Jones is simply an outstanding football player," says Darryl Rogers. "He is a leader on the football field, he is articulate off the field, and he is young man who has life in the proper perspective. I think he is really and truly a unique football player. He doesn't have great individual physical attributes, but when you put all his skills together, James is an outstanding player because he can run, block and catch the football as well as anyone. He's also as intelligent a football player as I've ever been around. He really has a feel for the game and is very aware of what's going on around him on the football field." Rogers' last point was never more evident than in the Lions' win over the Dolphins last season. Protecting a 10-point lead late in the game, the Lions' faced a third-and-1 at their 21. J.J. took a pitchout to his right, but Miami defenders read the play and appeared to have him stopped for no gain. But at the last possible moment, Jones lunged forward and stuck the ball ahead of him, breaking an imaginary plain at the first-down spot. He went out of bounds short of the first-down marker, but his heads-up play of placing the ball out in front of him gave the Lions the first down, and enabled the offense to go on and run out the game clock.

CAREER: A starter for the Lions since the first game of his rookie season and an exceptional receiver, J.J. holds the Lions' all-time single-season pass reception mark with 77 catches during the '84 season . . . He has caught at least one pass in every game he's played — 44 — since joining the NFL . . . Led the Lions in receptions his first two years and finished second to Leonard Thompson in '85 . . . His 168 receptions after three years is the highest total for three consecutive seasons in Lions' history . . . If he keeps up the pace, Jones will be the Lions' all-time leading receiver (based on number of receptions) after just six seasons . . . James is the Lions' player rep in 1986 . . . Considered by many to be on the verge of making the Pro Bowl . . . Has played in 44 of 48 games since joining the Lions and has started 43 games . . . Was selected the 1985 "Lion of the Year" by the Michigan March of Dimes.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Considered the prototype fullback in the '83 college draft . . . Was the 13th player selected overall . . . The fourth all-time leading rusher in Florida Gators' history with 2,026 yards on 468 carries (4.3 avg.) . . . He also caught 68 passes during his college career . . . An All-America performer at Ely High in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Jones played quarterback, linebacker and tight end in high school and was the most sought-after prep player in the state of Florida his senior year . . . He began his college career at tight end . . . One of 10 children, James and his wife Sheila are the parents of a daughter, Jasmine, and they live year-round in nearby Rochester, Mich. . . . His full name is James Roosevelt Jones.

Angelo King • 92

LINEBACKER • SOUTH CAROLINA STATE • 6th YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 222 • BORN: 2-10-58 • (TRADE IN '84)

1985: Physically, he was the shortest and lightest of all the Lions' linebackers on last year's roster, and quite possibly, not the fastest defender on the team either. But when it came to performing on the football field, Angelo King filled a very large role in '85. When the 6-5, 245-pound Mike Cofer fractured his hip in practice during Week 8, Angelo was called from his nickel linebacker role to replace Cofer, and King responded with a performance that kept him in the starting lineup for the remainder of the season. Despite only starting nine games in '85, Angelo led all linebackers in tackles with 90, which was the third highest total on the team. In his first start against the Miami Dolphins, Angelo recorded a then-team and season-high 11 tackles, including 10 solo stops. He also forced a key fumble that the Lions recovered and turned into their first touchdown of the game. "Angelo began the year as our No. 1 nickel linebacker because of his excellent skills in covering backs out of the backfield and his ability to rush the passer," Lions' defensive coordinator Wayne Fontes said. "And when he got his chance to start, he did a super job." When a rib injury sidelined left inside linebacker Kurt Allerman (Week 11), Angelo moved inside. "He never once complained about all the switching around he had to do," Fontes continued. "He just cares about the team and about winning. His intelligence makes him a very good football player." Entering the '86 season, Angelo is listed as the No. 2 right outside linebacker (behind Cofer). He'll also continue to see plenty of action in nickel situations.

CAREER: After being released late in the Cowboys' '81 camp, Angelo returned one week into the season and became a valuable special teams performer for the Cowboys for three seasons . . . The Lions obtained him in a trade on 8-27-84 for a future draft choice . . . He played in the 1981 & '82 NFC Championship Games with Dallas. . . . Angelo originally made the Dallas Cowboys as a free agent in 1981 . . . Played in all 16 games for the Lions in '84, mostly on special teams and in nickel situations.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Earned a starting spot midway through his freshman year at South Carolina State and never relinquished the position . . . Angelo was a Second-Team All-Conference pick as a sophomore ('78) and earned First-Team honors as a junior and senior . . . He also was named a Blacks' Colleges' All-America and Honorable Mention Little All-America in 1980 . . . A Columbia, S.C. native, Angelo was a standout athlete at Columbia High School . . . He blocked six punts during his college career, including a record four as a senior . . . Angelo has a degree in physical education and resides during the offseason in Dallas with his wife Monya . . . His full name is Angelo Tyrone King.

David Lewis • 87

TIGHT END • CALIFORNIA • 3rd YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 235 • BORN: 6-8-61 • (D-1 IN '84)

1985: "David played better last year than he did as a rookie, and he has to be an even better football player for us to improve overall," assessed Lions' Coach Darryl Rogers last spring. Rogers was discussing his starting tight end David Lewis, the Lions' No. 1 draft choice two years ago who became the team's full-fledged starting tight end in 1985. With the spotlight being placed squarely on Lewis as the Lions entered 1986, a look back at his second-season statistics showed the former Cal All-America was the Lions' fourth leading receiver in '85 with 28 catches, with three going for touchdowns, including two in one game. That happened in the Lions' 41-21 win over the Vikings at the Pontiac Silverdome (11/3/85). David was slowed somewhat early last year when he suffered a hamstring pull during a 34-yard catch-and-run play in the opener at Atlanta (9/8/85). That forced him out of action the rest of that game and the following week in a Lions' win over Dallas. But he returned in Week 3 and did not miss any action the remainder of the year. Lewis average 12.6 yards per catch in '85.

CAREER: As a rookie Lewis appeared in all 16 games in 1984 (starting seven) and caught 16 passes for an average of 14.8 yards per reception . . . Three of the catches went for touchdowns, two in one game (Thanksgiving Day, '84, in a 31-28 win over Green Bay) . . . His 4 catches against Atlanta (9/9/84) is a single-game best . . . His longest career reception is 58 yards versus Denver (10/7/84) . . . The most receiving yards in a game for Lewis was 71 yards in Week 4 last year against Tampa Bay (9/29/85).

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Even though he grew up in Portland, Ore., Lewis has been a life-long Lions' fan and he lists being drafted No. 1 by the Lions' in the spring of '84 "one of the greatest thrills of my life" . . . David was the 20th player drafted in the '84 draft . . . Lewis' senior year at Cal was hampered by a hamstring pull that limited his playing time after he had been a preseason All-America tab by The Sporting News and Street and Smith Magazine . . . After starting his college career as a linebacker, he switched to tight end and led the PAC-10 in receiving in '80 and '82, setting a record for receptions by a tight end in '82 with 54 . . . He majored in political science . . . He also took part in the famous kickoff return, multi-lateral play at the end of the Cal-Stanford game his junior year (1982) . . . A prep All-America from Grant High School in Portland, David still lives in that Oregon city during the off-season . . . A bachelor, he was back at Berkeley finishing his degree at Cal this off-season . . . His full name is David Wayne Lewis.

Pete Mandley • 82

WIDE RECEIVER • NORTHERN ARIZONA • 3rd YEAR
HT: 5-10 • WT: 191 • BORN: 7-29-61 • (D-2 IN '84)

1985: When Pete Mandley reported early to the Lions' '85 training camp, there was little doubt that the fleet-footed receiver meant business. Mandley stepped onto the field with the rookies and free agents and said, "I want to show the coaches I can play ball," and he did just that. After a rookie season when Mandley seemed to feel the pressure as the team's second-round draft pick, he began to come of age in '85. Increased self-confidence became obvious. "Pete matured tremendously during the season," said receivers Coach Paul Lanham. "That maturity reflected in his play, and he's going to get better." Darryl Rogers said it another way when he remarked that "There are an awful lot of players who come into the NFL the first year who don't set the league on fire, but in the second year they mature." Pete took command of the Lions' punt returning chores, and his 10.6 yards-per-return average ranked third in the NFC. His 4.4 speed in the "40" was obvious when he exploded for a 63-yard punt return for a touchdown that sparked a 23-21 upset of the Super Bowl champion 49ers in Week 7. However, it is as a receiver that the Lions feel they have an improving player in Mandley. After just three catches as a rookie, he had 18 catches a year ago, including career highs against the Bears in the season-finale with five catches for 127 yards. Pete also had a 78-yard punt return for a TD against the Bears (Week 16), but it was nullified by an illegal blocking penalty.

CAREER: Pete was the Lions' second pick in the '84 draft (47th player selected overall), but he sustained a sprained toe in the preseason opener that got his pro career off on the wrong foot . . . Mandley missed the remainder of the preseason and the '84 opener against the 49ers . . . He struggled through his rookie campaign but still led the Lions in kickoff returns with 22 for a 17.7 yards-per-return average.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Mandley averaged 14.8 yards each time he touched the ball (either as a receiver or kick returner) in four seasons with Northern Arizona . . . He set the NCAA Division I-AA record for all-purpose yards at 5,922 (the mark was previously held by the Raiders' Frank Dawkins) . . . Pete set five Big Sky Conference records and 13 school marks, and captained the Lumberjacks for his final 17 games . . . He sparkled his junior year with 1,986 total yards of offense and was an All-America selection by The Sporting News and the Associated Press . . . Also a sprinter on the NAU track team as a senior, Mandley attended Westwood High (also the Cowboys' Danny White's alma mater) in Mesa, Ariz., where he was All-State in track and football . . . He neared completion of his degree in Speech Communications in the off-season at Arizona State . . . Pete and his wife Teresa have a son, Dejhown . . . His full name is William N. Mandley . . . His father nicknamed him "PeeWee" as a child but it evolved into "Pete" as he grew older.

Vernon Maxwell • 98

OUTSIDE LINEBACKER • ARIZONA STATE • 4TH YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 235 • BORN: 10-25-61 • (FA IN '85)

1985: When the Lions signed Vernon Maxwell to a free agent contract on his 24th birthday (10/25/85), the Lions, Head Coach Darryl Rogers, and Maxwell, himself, were hoping to recapture past glories. After a standout rookie season and a creditable sophomore year with the Colts, the third-year pro fell on hard times in '85. He was traded by Indianapolis to the Chargers for a fifth-round draft pick during training camp, but was released by San Diego before the opening of the '85 season. When injuries beset the Lions' linebackers, Maxwell's former college coach — Rogers — brought him to Detroit. "I hope Vernon is going to establish himself as one of our outside linebackers," said Rogers shortly after Maxwell's arrival. "There's no question he has talent. He was a high draft choice and a dominant player his first year in the league." Then, Rogers added: "I don't know what happened to him the next two years. My only concern is to get him back to the performance level of his rookie season." Vernon was pressed into duty (on the kickoff team) two days after he signed in Week 8 against Miami, and went on to play in nine games during the season. He earned starts in Weeks 10 at Chicago and 12 at Tampa Bay. Maxwell is familiar with the Lions' 34 defense after playing in similar defenses at Indianapolis and Arizona State.

CAREER: Maxwell was a second-round draft choice, 29th player tabbed overall, by the Colts in '83 . . . He went on to lead Baltimore that year in quarterback sacks (11) and earned a trophy case full of honors: AP and Pro Football Writers "Rookie of the Year," NFLPA AFC defensive "Rookie of the Year," CPFN All-Pro (second team), and the UPI, Football Digest, and Pro Football Writers All-Rookie teams . . . He was third on the Colts in total tackles (92) and the leader in unassisted tackles (68) in '83 . . . Vernon, who had six QB sacks in his first three pro games, exploded on the scene with 14 tackles, two sacks (15 yards), two forced fumbles and one fumble recovery in his NFL debut against New England (9/4/83) . . . He was second on the Colts in sacks (8½) and tenth in total tackles (92) in '84.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Vernon recorded 337 tackles, including 178 solos, and was a three-time All-PAC-10 pick during his Arizona State career . . . He was one of four finalists for the Lombardi Award (for the outstanding college lineman) and earned All-America first team honors in '82 . . . Maxwell was chosen the Sun Devils' defensive "MVP" as a senior ('82) . . . Born in Birmingham, Ala., Vernon attended Verbum Dei High School in Los Angeles . . . His full name is Vernon Leroy Maxwell.

Bruce McNorton • 29

CORNERBACK • GEORGETOWN COLLEGE (Ky.) • 5th YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 175 • BORN: 2-28-59 • (D-4 IN '82)

1985: Prior to last season, one of the biggest concerns for Lions' coaches was the play of the defensive backfield. In '84 the secondary was one of the most vulnerable areas of the team. But all that changed last year, thanks in no small part to the improved play of Bruce McNorton, who registered one of his best seasons as a pro. McNorton had what could be classified as a "quietly efficient" year in '85. You didn't hear much about McNorton simply because he didn't make many mistakes and he provided the Lions with steady, albeit unspectacular, play all season. "Bruce was probably our most improved defensive back last year," Lions' defensive secondary Coach Willie Shaw said. "We needed a good year from Bruce and he really came through. He has excellent quickness and is a very coachable player." McNorton finished the year as the Lions' fifth leading tackler. His 76 tackles (63 solo) was the highest of his career and one of the reasons for Bruce's high tackle total was his improved run support defense. "Bruce proved to be a tougher defender against the run than he had earlier in his career," Darryl Rogers said. "We were pleased with his play last season and expect him to get that much better this year." Bruce also recorded two interceptions and was second to Bobby Watkins in passes defended with eight. One of just six defensive players to start every game for the Lions last season, Bruce finished fifth on the team in minutes played, and would have finished as high as second had he not missed the majority of the season-opener and finale due to ankle and knee injuries sustained in those games.

CAREER: Originally drafted as a return specialist . . . Spent most of his rookie season ('82) on injured reserve after a hand injury in training camp . . . Did see action in the final four regular season games and playoff game against Washington . . . His first professional start came during Week 9 of the '83 season and Bruce responded with an incredible string of at least one interception in his initial seven starts as a pro . . . Finished the '83 campaign as the team leader in interceptions (7) and passes defended (11), despite only starting eight games . . . In '84 he started all 16 games and led the Lions with 8 passes defended, while notching two interceptions . . . Has started 40 consecutive games for the Lions.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Nickname is "Chili" . . . Got the moniker in '82 training camp after the defensive backs drafted a policy of donating $1 toward a chili party at the end of camp for every ball missed or dropped and Bruce was far and away the team leader in donations . . . First player ever drafted out of Georgetown College . . . He set school records for career interceptions with 24 and for kickoff return average with a 29.6 mark his senior year . . . Captained both the football and track teams at Georgetown . . . Named the school's most outstanding practicum student on campus his senior year . . . Was all-conference selection as a junior and senior and was named a Little All-America as a senior . . . Also played in the Senior Bowl . . . Bruce

Mike Meade • 36

FULLBACK • PENN STATE • 5th YEAR
HT: 5-10 • WT: 227 • BORN: 2-12-60 • (WAIVERS IN '84)

1985: Mike Meade was a key specialist for the Lions a year ago — a top special teams performer and a short yardage fullback in blocking situations. He did both jobs superbly, registering 12 solo tackles in kick coverages to rank among team leaders in that category, and he blocked savagely ahead of either James Jones or Wilbert Montgomery in nearly all the Lions' short yardage offensive situations. He appeared in all 16 games but started none. Mike's offensive statistics included 3 rushes for 18 yards and 2 receptions for 21 yards. "Meade did an outstanding job on special teams, and while playing sparingly at fullback he gave us strength in short yardage situations," said Darryl Rogers. "He should be in competition this year for the back-up fullback job with Dave D'Addio."

CAREER: A fifth-round draft choice by the Packers in the '82 draft, he played two seasons with Green Bay before being claimed on waivers by the Lions (9/28/84) . . . He spent most of his first season with Detroit returning kickoffs (4 for 32 yards) and playing with all the coverage teams . . . Starting eight games in '83 for the Packers at fullback after recovering from a leg fracture suffered during the '82 season, Meade scored in some key situations for Green Bay that second pro season. He scored the Pack's final TD on a 31-yard reception from Lynn Dickey to wrap up the highest scoring Monday Night football in NFL history — a 48-47 Green Bay win over the Redskins (10/17/83) . . . Also, his four-yard TD catch against the Vikings sent their first game that season (10/13/83) into overtime . . . In the second Packers'-Vikings' meeting that year (11/17/83), he scored the first touchdown in a 29-21 Packers' victory.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Meade was a starter his senior year at Penn State after backing up Matt Suhey (Bears) and Booker Moore (Bills) the previous two seasons . . . As a senior, he mostly was used as a lead blocker for All-America Curt Warner (Seahawks), although he did manage 475 yards rushing in 100 carries and scored 5 TDs . . . His best college game came in '81 as he rushed for 107 yards in a 38-7 Nittany Lions' victory over Boston College . . . A Delaware native, Mike earned a degree in business management from Penn State in '82 . . . He is married to the former Georgia Carruth and they make their off-season home in Newark, Del. . . . His full name is Michael Lee Meade.

Alvin Moore • 24

RUNNING BACK • ARIZONA STATE • 4th YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 194 • BORN: 5-3-59 • (TRADE IN '85)

1985: The Lions and the Indianapolis Colts scratched each others' backs with a trade July 25, 1985, when wide receiver/return specialist Robbie Martin packed his bags for Indiana and Alvin Moore boarded a jet bound for Detroit. Martin went on to lead the Colts in kickoff and punt returns, while Moore played a vital role in the Lions' backfield. With the retirement of Dexter Bussey and injuries to Billy Sims and Wilbert Montgomery, Alvin got the shot he had been waiting for since being the Colts' seventh-round draft pick in '83. He played in all 16 Lions' games and started five. "Alvin's a tough kid," praised Darryl Rogers, who also coached Moore for two seasons at Arizona State. "He'll pass protect and he'll block in the running game, and he can catch the football. He's more of a complete player than just a specialist." The Arizona native started in each of the season's final five games, was second on the club in rushing touchdowns (4) and kickoff returns (19), and third in rushing (221 yards) and scoring (30 points). Alvin took center stage in the Lions' 41-21 romp over the Vikings in Week 11 when he set personal bests in rushing attempts (20), yards (60), touchdowns (2), pass receptions (5) and receiving yards (36). He also shined against the Packers when he caught a 13-yard scoring toss from Joe Ferguson for Detroit's lone score in Week 5, and he had two one-yard rushing TDs to give the Lions an early 14-0 lead in Week 15, also against the Pack.

CAREER: Moore was the 169th player chosen in the 1983 NFL draft, and spent much of his two seasons with the Colts as a back-up to Curtis Dickey . . . He has been in the unique situation of having played pro ball for two of his college coaches: Darryl Rogers with the Lions and the Colts' Frank Kush ('83-84) . . . Alvin had two starts with the Colts, both coming in '84 (at Philadelphia, 10/4/84, and 12/2/84 at Buffalo).

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Alvin rushed for 1,462 career yards on 334 carries (4.4 average) with eight TDs at Arizona State . . . Moore also caught 36 passes for 337 yards for the Sun Devils . . . He was used primarily as a third running back at ASU behind Rob Weathers (Patriots) and Gerald Riggs

Moore is one of five children and his father (Melvin) is a private investigator . . . Alvin is a cousin to former NFL and Oklahoma greats Lee Roy and Dewey Selmon . . . Moore, his wife Debra and infant son Alvin (who was born following the '85 season), reside in Tempe, Ariz., in the off-season.

Steve Mott • 52

CENTER • ALABAMA • 4th YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 265 • BORN: 3-24-61 • (D-5B IN '83)

1985: Steve Mott finally got his wish, and the Lions and offensive line Coach Bill Muir couldn't have been more pleased. After being plagued by what were described as "potentially career-ending injuries" during his first two NFL seasons, Mott became a year-long rock in the middle of the Lions' offensive line in '85. "It was the first year in Steve's pro career that he played a whole season uninterrupted by a major injury," said Muir. "That's not to say he wasn't hurt. He played and practiced through most of the season with a broken finger. It was painful for him but it was a credit to Steve that he fought his way through it." Mott broke the ring finger of his snapping hand during Week 5 at Green Bay. The injury nagged him for the remainder of the season, but it was a trifle compared to the serious knee and ankle injuries of '83 and '84. Mott started all 16 games a year ago, rarely missed a down, and played 422.4 minutes overall (second only to rookie tackle Lomas Brown on offense). Mott was recognized by Muir as being "an extremely tenacious competitor and a very smart player," and was voted by his teammates as the Lions' 1985 recipient of the Ed Block Memorial Courage Award. The honor, which recognizes men of courage in the NFL, is presented annually to representatives of each of the 28 NFL clubs by the East Side Athletic Club of Baltimore.

CAREER: Mott took command of the Lions' starting center job in Week 5 of '83 (against the Rams) when he replaced four-year starter Amos Fowler . . . The Lions won eight of the last 12 games that year with Steve at center on the way to the '83 NFC Central Division title . . . He was one of only three rookies (with James Jones and Michael Cofer) to start the '83 playoff game against the 49ers, but he sustained a knee injury in the first half that required surgery and extensive rehabilitation . . . Mott made a quick recovery, and started the first six games of '84 before being sidelined for the remainder of that season with a fracture dislocation of his ankle (vs. the Broncos) . . . Again, Steve went back into rehabilitation but answered the bell as starting center when the '85 season opened.

Games: Played 35, Started 34.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Steve was recruited by the legendary Paul "Bear" Bryant after being a schoolboy All-America at New Orleans' Archbishop Shaw High School . . . Mott captained Bryant's last Crimson Tide squad ('82), was a three-year letterman and played on Alabama's '79 national championship team . . . He was an All-SEC first team choice and honorable mention All-America in '82, and starred in the the 28-17 'Bama victory over Auburn (11/28/81) when Bryant became college football's winningest coach . . . Steve and his wife Julie (a former Alabama cheerleader) live in the Detroit area year-round and have been active in many community projects . . . They raised over $4,000 from Lions' teammates and spearheaded a clothing drive for needy Detroit families in Steve and Julie's "A Lions' Merry Christmas" program last December . . . The Motts will also be featured in a 1986 NFL United Way national TV spot . . . Steve's full name is Walter Stephen Mott III.

Eddie Murray • 3

PLACE-KICKER • TULANE • 7th YEAR
HT: 5-10 • WT: 175 • BORN: 8-29-56 • (D-7 IN '80)

1985: "I wanted to stay here, that's the biggest thing," stated Eddie Murray after he signed a new Lions' contract following a standout '85 season. "I didn't want to be here for six years and go somewhere else and have the Lions do well. I think things are really looking up here and I want to play a part in it." And indeed Murray will be since — barring any calamity — he'll become the Lions' all-time leading scorer by mid-season in 1986. After leading Detroit in scoring for the sixth straight year in '85, Eddie now has 599 career points — just 38 points shy of Errol Mann's career mark of 636 set from 1969-76. He needs just eight more field goals and 17 more PATs to eclipse Mann's career records in those categories as well. A rigorous off-season training regimen led to a banner '85 campaign for Eddie, who further entrenched himself as the second all-time leading percentage kicker in the NFL. His .749 percentage trails only Kansas City's Nick Lowery (136-177, .768) among all-time NFL kickers. "Eddie has a very professional attitude about doing his job," praises Lions' special teams Coach Carl Battershell. "Conditioning is very important to him. He stayed in excellent shape all last year, and it paid off." Murray hit on 8 of 10 FGs from 40 or more yards, (his misses were from 48 and 55 yards) to rank third in the NFL in kicking percentage. He was chosen Sports Illustrated's All-Pro kicker, and he booted a team-record 12 straight FGs during the season's final six games. Also the team's back-up punter, Murray had only two dark spots in an otherwise brilliant season. His NFL-high string of 157 straight PATs was halted in Week

2 against the Cowboys, and he added another miscue in Week 15 against the Packers — his first PAT misses since his rookie season.

CAREER: The native Canadian, who nearly chose a pro soccer career over football, has played in 55 consecutive regular season games for the Lions (fourth most among active Lions), and he has made at least one field goal in 63 of the 65 regular-season games in which he has attempted at least one FG . . . Twice Eddie has tied Glenn Presnell's Detroit record 54-yard FG — at Cincinnati (12/11/83) and in the '83 playoffs against San Francisco (12/31/83) . . . The soccer-style kicker has hit on 80.4 percent (82-102) of his FG attempts in the last four seasons, and is 83.3 percent (41-48) during that span in the Silverdome . . . Murray had a banner rookie season ('80) when he led the NFL in scoring (116 points), and he became the first and only rookie to be named the Pro Bowl's MVP after his four field goals iced a 21-7 NFC win . . . His first pro FG was a 52-yarder in his debut against the Rams (9/7/80), which tied for the longest in the NFC that season . . . Eddie's first kickoff (against the Rams on 9/7/80) was returned 98 yards for a TD by Drew Hill . . . In his second pro game (9/14/80), Eddie booted five FGs (second most in Lions' history) in a 29-7 victory over the Packers . . . In '81, Murray tied Dallas' Rafael Septien for the NFL scoring title (121 points) and set a Lions' mark with 46 PATs . . . He has scored 12 points in playoff games, including 11 points against the 49ers on New Year's Eve, '83, although his 43-yard FG attempt sailed wide right with 0:05 left in that 24-23 loss to the Niners.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Eddie holds virtually every kicking record in Tulane history, where he was a four-year letterman, four-time All-South Independent choice and an honorable mention All America ('78 and '79) . . . He was offered a contract with the British Columbia Lions in the CFL and a tryout with the Vancouver White Caps of the North American Soccer League before he decided to accept a football scholarship to Tulane . . . Eddie holds a degree in Education from the New Orleans-located school . . . Murray was born in Halifax, Nova Scotia, went to high school in Victoria, British Columbia, and spent much of his childhood (from age 5 to 15) in England . . . Always active with community and charity projects, Eddie has been particularly involved with the Multiple Sclerosis Society in recent years . . . Murray, who donated $100 for each successful FG he kicked in '85, helped raise $14,000 for M.S. last year . . . He was the Lions' NFL/Lite "Man of the Year" for '84 and '85, was the March of Dimes (Detroit chapter) "Athlete-Citizen of the Year" in '85, and is the 1986 Chairman for the Michigan Multiple Sclerosis "Read-a-thon" program . . . Eddie spent the off-season as a loan representative for Bloomfield (Mich.) Mortgage Corporation, and lives year-'round in nearby Southfield, Mich. . . . His full name is Edward Peter Murray.

Mark Nichols • 86

WIDE RECEIVER • SAN JOSE STATE • 6th YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 208 • BORN: 10-29-59 • (D-1 IN '81)

1985: With 70 receptions the last two seasons, including a career-high 36 in 1985, Mark Nichols was just starting to emerge as a top-flight player for the Detroit Lions when a knee injury forced him on the shelf the final two games last year. Ensuing knee surgery in late December put his 1986 season in a questionable state. "We don't know if we'll have Mark this season or not, or if we'll get him back for part of this season," reports Darryl Rogers. "But he showed a lot of improvement as 1985 went along and we would like to get him back in playing condition as soon as possible." Through persistent work Nichols did improve last year after starting out in a iffy state by missing practically all of training camp and the pre-season with a hamstring injury. After three regular season games last fall, he did not have a reception, and he played just one series in Week 2 against the Cowboys and was in the game for just three plays in Week 3 at Indianapolis. But against Tampa Bay in Week 4 he got his break when Leonard Thompson was held out with a thigh injury. Mark responded with two TD receptions and was on his way to his 36 catches, averaging 16.4 yards per catch, and scoring 4 touchdowns. Nichols' knee woes began at Minnesota (11/3/85) when he suffered strained ligaments, but he continued to play since that was the game the Lions lost Jeff Chadwick for the year with a broken collarbone. Thompson, Chadwick and Nichols had been rotating in-and-out until then, but with Chadwick out, Thompson and Nichols responded over the next five weeks to combine to catch 33 passes — four for touchdowns — before Nichols re-injured the knee in Week 14 at New England. He was operated on when the season concluded two weeks later. Praised Lions' quarterback Eric Hipple at year's end, "Mark needed to do this season exactly what he did. He needed to get some confidence behind him. This year he played more confidently and more aggressively, making some remarkable catches over the middle for us."

CAREER: The Lions made Nichols the 16th overall player drafted in 1981 when they took him in the first round . . . A fractured shoulder blade and inconsistent play limited him to just 10 receptions his rookie year, and during the strike-shortened '82 season, Mark had just 8 catches . . . In that '82 season, Nichols again found himself on injured reserve with a foot fracture . . . His first pro TD came in a 27-24 win over Dallas (11/15/81), a six-yard pass from Eric Hipple . . . Mark's career-high for a game in receptions is 5 and he has done that 3 times — versus Tampa Bay (9/4/83), Minnesota (9/25/83) and Minnesota (10/21/84) . . . The most yards he's achieved in a game came in that latter Minnesota contest (117 yards) . . . Nichols teamed up on a 77-yard pass play for a TD from Gary Danielson (9/16/84) . . . He led the Lions in yards-per-reception with a 21.9 average in '84, ranking second only to Green Bay's James Lofton (22.0) among NFL receivers with 30 or more receptions . . . Mark has had big days the last two Thanksgivings. In '84 versus Green Bay he had 4 catches for 108 yards in a 31-28 Lions' win, and last year he helped key the 31-20 Turkey Day victory over the Jets with a 38-yard TD reception from Hipple just prior to the half that gave the Lions a 17-3 halftime lead. He ended the day with 4 receptions for 75 yards.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Nichols ended his collegiate career as San Jose State's third all-time leading receiver with 1,217 yards on 48 catches with 16 going for touchdowns . . . He played for Jack Elway at San Jose State, now the Stanford coach and father of Broncos' quarterback John Elway . . . He also set Spartan records for single-season receiving yardage (773) and TD catches (11) in '79 after transferring from Bakersfield Junior College. He averaged 26.7 yards per catch that year . . . He averaged 38 yards per catch his final year at Bakersfield JC and also lettered on the track team . . . Mark is a product of Bakersfield, Calif., but lives year-round in Rochester, Mich., with his wife Terri and their son Matthew . . . He played football, basketball, baseball and ran track at Bakersfield High School . . . His full name is Mark Stephen Nichols.

Rob Rubick • 84

TIGHT END • GRAND VALLEY STATE • 5th YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 234 • BORN: 9-27-60 • (D-12B IN '82)

1985: A quick glance at his 1985 stats — 2 receptions for 33 yards — won't raise any eyebrows. But in order to more accurately gauge Rob Rubick's performance last season, you have to look much further than the stat sheet. For starters, Rubick spent the first six weeks of the regular-season on the PUP (physically unable to perform) list, recovering from off-season back and knee surgery. He returned for the Week 7 contest against San Francisco and started the next four games when the Lions utilized a lot of one-back formation with two tight ends. Known for excellent hands and concentration, Rubick is expected to compete for the No. 2. (behind David Lewis) tight end position this season with veteran Mark Brammer. "Rob has a real knack for catching the ball in a crowd," Lions' tight ends coach Don Doll said. "If he can return to his 1984 style of play, he'll be a real plus for us."

CAREER: Lions' final selection (second pick in 12th round) of the '82 draft . . . Spent rookie season as Lions' third-string tight end and played special teams . . . Hard work paid off in '84 as Rubick started the last seven games of the regular-season . . . He scored a touchdown the first time he touched the ball as a pro in the '82 season-finale against Green Bay on a one-yard end-around which clinched a 27-24 victory and gave Detroit its first playoff berth since 1970 . . . First pro TD pass reception came on a 6-yard toss from Gary Danielson against Atlanta (9/18/83) . . . Was the 326th player (out of 334) taken in the '82 draft . . . Lions' had extra pick in last round of '82 draft as compensation from San Diego for former Detroit defensive tackle John Woodcock.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Rubick hails from Newberry, a small town in Michigan's Upper Peninsula . . . Thanks to hard work in the weight room, Rubick has gone from a 185-pound college freshman to a 234-pound 5th year pro . . . He set Grand Valley records for career receptions (83) and yards receiving (1,491) and for season catches (33) and yards (558) . . . All of Rubick's college records were broken by current Lions' wide receiver Jeff Chadwick a year after Rubick set them . . . He went back to college after joining the Lions' and completed his degree in physical education . . . Enjoys fishing and the outdoors . . . His full name is Robin James Rubick.

Mark Stevenson • 65

GUARD/CENTER • WESTERN ILLINOIS • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 285 • BORN: 2-24-58 • (FA IN '85)

1985: Mark Stevenson was the 61st player to join the active roster for the Lions in '85, during a season that was plagued by a deluge of injuries. Stevenson joined Detroit on Dec. 7, 1985, after second-round draft choice Kevin Glover sustained a knee injury in practice and had to be placed on injured reserve for the remainder of the season. A powerful lineman who has the versatility to play guard or center, Mark saw limited playing time in the final two games (6.1 minutes) of the season.

CAREER: Stevenson has had a well-traveled career in his quest to play professional football . . . He had free agent tryouts with the Seahawks ('80), Bears ('82) and the Chargers ('85) before being released during training camp . . . Mark also played parts of three seasons in the USFL with the Chicago Blitz ('83), Arizona Wranglers ('84) and the Memphis Showboats ('85) but injuries stymied his progress . . . A knee injury limited his play to the first six games of '83 with the Blitz and sidelined him all of '84 when that franchise shifted its players to Arizona . . . Stevenson twisted his ankle in the Showboats' '85 season opener which shelved him for the rest of the campaign . . . He also played for the Chicago Fire in the American Football Association in '81.

(NFL) Games: Played 2, Started 0.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Mark played his first two years of college football at Missouri ('75 & '76) before transferring to Western Illinois ('78 & '79) where he teamed for two seasons with current Lions' guard Don Greco . . . He earned All-Mid-Continent Conference honors as a senior ('79) . . . He has a degree in business administration from WIU ('80) . . . Born in Waukegan, Ill., Mark attended Rock Island (Ill.) Senior High School where he was All-State in football and track . . . His full name is Mark Oliver Stevenson.

Rich Strenger • 71

TACKLE • MICHIGAN • 3rd YEAR
HT: 6-7 • WT: 276 • BORN: 3-10-60 • (D-2 IN '83)

1985: What began as a season of doubt for Rich Strenger ended as, perhaps, his most satisfying campaign as a professional. The 3rd-year pro began '85 as a huge question mark. A slow recovery from a knee injury in the '84 opener (which Rich started at left tackle) led directly to the Lions drafting Lomas Brown No. 1 and Brown being inserted into the starting left tackle spot. Strenger eventually recovered, but was used sparingly during the first 10 weeks of the season. And with Brown firmly entrenched at left tackle and standout Keith Dorney on the right side, it appeared Strenger's return as a starter might be some time down the road. But when injuries depleted the guard position, Lions' coaches switched Dorney to right guard and gave Strenger his right tackle job. Rich started in the Week 11, 41-21 thrashing of Minnesota and played so well he remained there the rest of the year. "Rich's ability to come back from his injury and give us such a super effort allows us tremendous flexibility along our offensive line," Darryl Rogers said. "With Rich able to play both tackle spots effectively, I feel we have a trio of tackles as good as any in the league." In all, Rich started six games last year, and turned in exceptional performances against two of the NFL's best defensive ends — Mark Gastineau of the Jets and Dan Hampton of the Bears. Hampton only recorded one tackle in the season finale, while Gastineau had two in the Thanksgiving Day contest.

CAREER: Played in 16 games his rookie year ('83) and started four when Keith Dorney was hurt . . . Earned starting left tackle spot in '84, but suffered a season-ending knee injury that required surgery only seven plays into the opening game . . . Lion's tallest (6-7) player and one of the heaviest . . . Is considered a third-year pro because he was active for only one game in '84, thus not qualifying for a year's service that season. Games: Played, 30, Started 11.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Named the Detroit Lions' 1985 Sportsman of the Year by the Pontiac Elks Club for his exceptional comeback performance last season . . . Arrived on the Michigan campus as a gangling, 218-pound freshman in 1979 . . . He added nearly 60 pounds by the time the Lions made him their second choice in the '83 draft . . . Rich didn't start for Michigan until his senior year . . . Played behind former All-Big Ten tackles Ed Muransky and Bubba Paris prior to his senior year . . . Earned First-Team, All-Big Ten honors and honorable mention all-America honors as a senior . . . Member of Michigan's Big Ten Championship and Rose Bowl teams in '81 and '83 . . . Rich was one of four members of the Grafton (Wis.) High School football team who received scholarships to play at Michigan . . . At Grafton, Rich was an all-conference fullback and an all-state center in basketball . . . He earned a degree in literature science and art in Michigan . . . He and his wife Karen reside in Lake Orion, Mich. . . . His full name is Richard Gene Strenger.

Leonard Thompson • 39

WIDE RECEIVER • OKLAHOMA STATE • 12th YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 192 • BORN: 7-28-52 • (D-8 IN '75)

1985: With a headline that read "The Lions' Golden Oldie," Detroit Free Press columnist Charlie Vincent characterized the venerable Leonard Thompson: "If Thompson is an antique, he's a durable one. Like the Pyramids. Or George Burns." Like a fine wine, "LT" gets better with age, and 1985 was a vintage year. After a slow start due to a nagging thigh pull, Thompson hit high gear and torpedoed defending AFC champion Miami in Week 8 with six catches for 133 yards and one TD. While America ate it's Thanksgiving dinner, Leonard feasted on the Jets in Week 13 with 7 receptions for 115 yards and, for the third time in his career, he had three touchdown catches. He added his ninth 100-yard receiving game of his career (eight in regular-season play) when he had a personal high nine catches for 101 yards against the Bears in the season-finale. In fact, when "LT" and Pete Mandley (5 catches for 127 yds) each went over the 100-yard mark against Chicago, (Week 16), it marked the first time the Lions had two receivers eclipse the century mark in the same game since Thompson (3 for 118) teamed with Freddie Scott (3 for 110) against the Bears in '81 (10/19/81). Thompson, noted for his "Willie Mays catches" over his shoulder deep down field, ended '85 by leading the Lions with a career-high 51 receptions for 736 yards and five TDs. Ironically, it marked the first time in his sterling career that he had led the Lions in receptions. However, in recent years, LT's knee miseries and a resultant loss of practice time has had some critics wondering if it was time for the 34-year-old Thompson to retire. "All I know is, Leonard was our leading pass receiver," defended Darryl Rogers. "When all's said-and-done, Leonard had a pretty good year. There are a lot of things about Leonard you've got to like. He produces." Perhaps, following the Miami game, Thompson himself said it best when he told reporters, "For an old man, I can still get around."

CAREER: Thompson ranks seventh in Lions' games played (159), just two games behind sixth place Alex Karras (161), and he could move as high as third place in '86 . . . On the all-time Detroit charts, he stands fifth in TDs (33), fourth in TD receptions (30), 4th in receptions (252) and his third place tally of 4,362 receiving yards trails second place Charlie Sanders (4,817) by only 455 yards . . . Thompson, who has played in 33 straight games, has missed only four games in his career despite three knee surgeries, several arthroscopies and a broken jaw . . . LT began his pro career as one of the Lions' (and the NFL's) premier special teams players, used for kickoff and punt returns and in all teams coverage . . . He continued to see special teams duty through the '83 campaign . . . LT has nine career (opponent) fumble recoveries, including four in '78 . . . He blocked, recovered and scored on a punt against the Colts with :09 left in a dramatic 13-10 Lions' victory in '77 (12/11/77) . . . The Tucson, Ariz., native earned a start at running back, his college position, against the Packers in '77 (12/4/77) and led Detroit with 76 rushing yards (18 carries) and scored the Lions' lone TD in a 10-9 loss . . . He caught the third longest TD pass in Detroit history (94 yards) from Eric Hipple against the Bears in '81 (10/19/81) . . . LT's high of 179 receiving yards (eight catches and an 80-yard TD) in a game came against the Browns (9/11/83), which ranks fourth in Lions' history . . . Thompson topped the NFL with a 26.9 yards-per-catch average in '80 . . . He has sparkled in post-season play with standout performances against the Redskins (7 catches for 150 yards) following the '82 season and in the '83 playoffs against the 49ers (6 for 74) . . . The Vikings well know Leonard since two of his three-TD catch games (9/23/78 and 12/9/78) have been against Minnesota.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Leonard was a world class sprinter and a running back at Oklahoma State ('73-74) after transferring from Arizona Western College . . . He caught just four passes in his two-year OSU career in the Cowboys' ground-oriented wishbone offense . . . His first trip to Detroit following the '75 draft wasn't to join the Lions — instead, he competed at Cobo Arena in the 60-yard dash in the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships . . . Leonard has long been devoted to community and charitable activities . . . He was the Lions' NFL-Sponsored "Man of the Year" in '83, spearheaded a drive by his teammates that raised money to assist needy families in Pontiac, Mich., for Christmas '85, and was co-chairman for this past spring's celebrity golf tournament in Phoenix that raised some $20,000 for the Make-a-Wish Foundation . . . He is owner and chairman of the board of KSUN radio in Phoenix . . . At a family reunion prior to '85 training camp, Leonard found he had a cousin for a teammate — tight end David Lewis . . . Thompson, who attended Pueblo High School in Tucson, Ariz., resides in the off-season in Scottsdale, Ariz., with his wife Debra and son Christopher . . . His full name is Leonard Irwin Thompson.

Tom Turnure • 60

CENTER • WASHINGTON • 6th YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 253 • BORN: 7-9-57 • (FA IN '85)

1985: Tom Turnure (pronounced Tur-NEWER) returned to the Lions following a two-year hiatus in the USFL last Nov. 15 and handled the long-snapping duties the final six games. The left-handed long snapper-back-up center was reunited with holder Eric Hipple and place-kicker Eddie Murray when he returned to Detroit. All three were drafted together by the Lions in '80. He also was called upon during Week 14 at New England to play offensive guard in a relief role when injuries depleted that position during the game.

CAREER: Tom played in only three games his rookie year because of a knee injury, but from 1981-83, he served the Lions as their long snapper in every contest . . . He signed with the Michigan Panthers (6/15/84) after playing out his option with the Lions '83 playoff squad . . . Moved to the Oakland Invaders when they merged with the Panthers for the '85 spring season . . . A third-round pick by the Lions, he was the second player they drafted overall in '80 after Billy Sims . . . Turnure has played in 50 NFL games but has started none in his career.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Four-year letterman for the Washington Huskies . . . named All-Pac 10, All-West Coast and honorable mention All-America at center as a senior . . . Played in the Sun Bowl as a junior and Rose Bowl as a senior, and also played in the East-West Shrine game and the Japan Bowl following his final college season . . . Tom's degree is in economics . . . He and his wife, Terri, live in Seattle where they became first-time parents during the off-season — twin daughters Tracy and Tara were born 3/28/86 . . . His full name is Thomas William Turnure . . . he lists golf, tennis, fishing and hunting as hobbies . . . The Turnure's family dog is a golden retriever named Ted.

Bobby Watkins • 27

CORNERBACK • SOUTHWEST TEXAS STATE • 5th YEAR
HT: 5-10 • WT: 184 • BORN: 5-31-60 • (D-2 IN '82)

1985: Quiet, consistent professionalism is Bobby Watkins' trademark. Little is heard from or about the Lions' second-round draft pick from '82, and that probably bodes well for Detroit's defense. "You kind of forget Bobby because he's always doing his job," stated defensive backs' Coach Willie Shaw. "He's good at man-to-man coverage and he gives great run support. Bobby's a good, consistent player." Playing the demanding left cornerback slot, Watkins' soft-spoken ways have reaped bell-ringing results. The Dallas, Tex., native has led the Lions in pass interceptions in three of his four seasons, including a team-topping five thefts and 12 pass deflections in '85. His top outing a year ago was against the Colts in Week 3 when he intercepted two Mike Pagel passes, and he added single thefts with a late-season splurge against the Patriots (Week 14), Packers (Week 15) and the Bears (Week 16). If consistency has been his trademark, durability has been his lifeline. Booby has started more consecutive games (52 dating back to his first start, 12/12/82, against the Packers) than any active Lion. He is second to Alvin Hall in consecutive games played (57), and was second only to William Gay in minutes played (502) in '85.

CAREER: With an average of five interceptions a season over his four-year career, Watkins is on course to stand among the finest defensive backs in Detroit history if his consistency and durability hold . . . Dick LeBeau's career-record of 62 interceptions was spread over 14 seasons (4.4 average) while Lem Barney stole 56 passes over 11 years (5.1) . . . Bobby has been a Packer nemesis over the years with seven of his career pass thefts coming against Green Bay (five from Lynn Dickey) . . . He intercepted a Dickey pass and returned it for two yards in his first start (12/12/82), and later in that strike-shortened season, he picked off three Dickey tosses (1/2/83) for a game high . . . His longest interception return was a 31-yarder against the Bears (10/30/83) . . . Bobby has started both the Lions' two playoff games following the '82 and '83 seasons, and had a 24-yard interception return against the 49ers (12/31/83) . . . He was the 42nd player chosen in the '82 draft, and was the Lions' second-round pick after linebacker Jimmy Williams had been tabbed in the first round . . . That '82 draft also brought to Detroit two other starting defensive backs, Bruce McNorton (4th round) and William Graham (5th round).

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Bobby was a four-year starter at Southwest Texas State, which won the NCAA Division II Championship in '81 (his senior year) . . . He started the final 38 games of his college career and had 13 pass interceptions over his last three seasons . . . He captained the STSU Bobcats his senior year, was All-Conference his final three years, and was All-District (NAIA) in both football and track his junior and senior seasons . . . Watkins was an NAIA second-team All-America as a senior ('81) . . . He was a standout wide receiver and safety at Bishop Dunne High School in Dallas . . . One of nine children, Watkins majored in business at STSU . . . He and his wife Joselyn reside during the off-season in San Antonio, Tex. . . . His full name is Bobby Lawrence Watkins.

Eric Williams • 76

NOSE TACKLE • WASHINGTON STATE • 3rd YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 280 • BORN: 2-24-62 • (D-3A IN '84)

1985: Eric Williams established himself as an up-and-coming star on the defensive line for the Detroit Lions in '85 with a gangbusters season that ended prematurely in Week 14 when it was discovered Eric had fractured a neck vertebra in the Thanksgiving Day game (11/28/85) against the New York Jets. Despite his injury in that game, Eric finished with 5 solo tackles, 1 assisted tackle and 1 sack to lead a defensive charge that helped the Lions to a 31-20 victory. That performance was typical of the way Williams played all season — his first in the starting lineup for the Lions. He started nine of the first ten games (missing Week 3 at Indianapolis with an ankle sprain) at defensive end, then played three games (Weeks 11-13) at nose tackle after Doug English was lost with a neck fracture. English, in fact, is credited by Williams for helping develop Eric into an NFL player. "Doug showed me the way in the NFL, both on and off the field after my first year," Williams explains. "He taught me how to prepare for games and how to condition myself for the season and also how to get the most out of my ability. He's a big reason I played much better my second year than my rookie season." Now that English has retired from the Lions, Williams is being looked upon to be the full-fledged nose tackle in the club's 34 defense. "I relish the position in some ways," says Williams. "And I know if I play well on the nose, the entire defense has a chance to do its job. You might say I have to improve for us to be a better overall defense." Says defensive line Coach Rex Norris, "In many ways Eric was our best defensive lineman a year ago. He's a bull rusher-type player, but not totally that because he has the speed and quickness to get around you too. Putting on 20 pounds last year helped him and the experience of playing should pay off. Really, he can be a top player in the league if he'll drive himself to be just that." Adds Darryl Rogers, "Eric has the drive to be a great player, and now that he's fully recovered from his neck injury, we expect him to continue the improvement he showed last year. He did okay at defensive end and much better on the nose. He'll be even better this season." Statistically over 12 games Williams fared well, finishing with 6½ sacks for 53 yards in losses and with 60 tackles, including 51 solo tackles. He also batted down a pass, recovered a fumble and blocked a field goal during the course of the season. In Eric's first game on the nose last year against the Vikings (11/17/85), he had 6 solo tackles, 1 batted pass for an interception and 1 sack.

CAREER: Williams started the first game of his rookie season at defensive tackle in place of injured Curtis Green but most of his rookie season was a washout. He played sparingly in 12 games and had just nine total tackles with no sacks or fumble recoveries.

E. Williams continued

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Eric was one of two defensive linemen at Washington State who received All-America recognition in 1983, the other being Keith Millard, now of the Minnesota Vikings . . . He also was a first team All-Pacific 10 and All-West Coast selection that year and played in the Senior Bowl game . . . Eric is the son of former Lions' second round draft choice Roy Williams, who was cut as a rookie by the Lions and then played with the 49ers from 1958-64 . . . Dad Roy was a University of Pacific graduate and the Williams family still makes their home in that college town of Stockton, Calif. . . . Eric's degree from Washington State is in agricultural economics . . . His brothers were both college basketball players — Scott at Idaho State and Dan at George Washington University . . . He lists beating arch-rival Washington in 1984 and knocking the Huskies out of the Rose Bowl as his biggest thrill in college football . . . His full name is Eric Michael Williams . . . He played his final high school game (St. Mary's High) at fullback and was the leading rusher in the contest, but in another high school contest he blocked two punts, recovered a fumble and made 21 unassisted tackles.

Jimmy Williams • 59

OUTSIDE LINEBACKER • NEBRASKA • 5th YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 230 • BORN: 11-15-60 • (D-1 IN '82)

1985: A message was delivered by Jimmy Williams last season to the rest of the NFL, and it was one we have heard before: "There's no place like home." For Jimmy, "home" is the left outside linebacker position, the same one he played in college when he earned All-America honors en route to being the Lions' No. 1 draft choice in 1982. When he joined the pros, Jimmy played on the right side, however. A significant change came in '85 when the Lions' new coaching staff returned Williams to his former position. "We felt going into last year that Jimmy could better utilize his talents and abilities at left outside linebacker," Lions' defensive coordinator Wayne Fontes said. "And we were right. Jimmy had an exceptional season for us, and if he continues to improve and play at the same level of intensity as he did last year, he can be as good as any outside linebacker in the NFL." 1985 was easily Williams' best season as a pro and he was recognized by his teammates when they voted Jimmy the Lions' Most Valuable Defensive Player. He led the club in sacks with 7½ and finished fourth with 89 tackles (67 solo). While his tackle total was not as high as the past two seasons, there was a good reason for that — teams did not run as much to Jimmy's side as they had in the past. "There's no question that Jimmy Williams is an outstanding football player," reports Darryl Rogers. "We expect him to have another outstanding season for us in 1986." According to Williams, there were two main factors in his success last year. "Returning to the left side was vital," he said. "I really feel at home there because I'm right-handed and I move better to my left. It's the same position I played at Nebraska and it's one that will allow me to use my talents and abilities to a greater degree. The new coaching staff also had a lot to do with my success," Williams continued. "Their positive outlook and approach had a great effect on the team."

CAREER: Was the Lions' No. 1 draft choice (15th overall) in '82 . . . Played behind the now-retired Stan White as a rookie, before spending the final four games of that season on injured reserve with an ankle injury that required surgery . . . Used mostly in passing situations early in his career because of excellent speed (4.5 in the 40-yard dash) . . . Started every game in '83 and '84 at the right outside linebacker spot . . . Was fifth on the team in tackles with 143 in '83, and placed second in that category in '84 when he recorded 140 tackles . . . Had 3½ sacks his first three seasons, before recording 7½ in '85.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: A modern-day rags-to-riches story, Jimmy did not receive a single scholarship offer from a major university after his high school playing days at Washington, D.C.'s Woodrow Wilson High . . . So he, along with his brother Toby, ventured west to Nebraska where both made the squad as walk-ons . . . Toby now plays defensive end for the New England Patriots . . . Jimmy entered Nebraska as a 180-pounder, with a 4.8 time in the 40-yard dash . . . Hard work in the weight room helped him increase his weight to 215 and improve his speed to a one-time clocking of 4.3 in the 40 . . . A unanimous All-Big Eight selection as a senior . . . Was the conference's defensive player of the year in '81 and was named to nine All-America teams as a senior . . . Jimmy and Toby are two of eight children in the family of James and Flora Williams of Washington, D.C. . . . Jimmy lives year-round in Rochester, Mich . . . His full name is James Henry Williams.

John Witkowski • 18

QUARTERBACK • COLUMBIA • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 205 • BORN: 6-18-62 • (D-6 IN '84)

1985: When the Lions waived their young quarterback John Witkowski last Sept. 2, it was the beginning of a long fall out of football for the signal caller from Columbia who had made the Lions as a fourth quarterback in 1984. Lions' Coach Darryl Rogers had hopes of keeping Witkowski with the Lions in '85, but his departure came when the Lions elected to carry just two quarterbacks (veterans Eric Hipple and Joe Ferguson). The two players battling for the third job — Mike Machurek and Witkowski — went down to the wire hoping to be kept on the 45-man roster, but when Machurek had to go on injured reserve with a rotator cuff injury, Witkowski's fate for '85 was decided. He was re-signed by the Lions on March 5 of this year.

CAREER: John played in three games as a rookie . . . He was one of four QBs on the '84 Lions', along with Hipple, Machurek and Gary Danielson . . . His three-game '84 stats show 13 completions in 34 attempts with no TDs or interceptions . . . One of his completions was a 39-yard pass to Mark Nichols.

COLLEGE & PERSONAL: Came to the Lions from the Lions — the Columbia University Lions of New York City . . . Despite playing on teams that were just 3-25-2 during his three varsity seasons as the starting quarterback, Witkowski set virtually every Columbia and Ivy League passing and total offense mark. He completed 613

OTHER LIONS WITH PRO EXPERIENCE

Twenty-two young veterans, or players with previous pro training camp experience, entered 1986 training camp with the Lions in July. The group included:

RUNNING BACKS: Scotty Caldwell (5-10, 200, Texas-Arlington, the Lions' eighth-round draft pick in 1985, is back for a second try after being trimmed in the final cut (to 45 players) a year ago. He had 60 yards rushing on 12 carries (5.0 average) and five receptions for 34 yards in the '85 preseason. The Southland Conference's "Offensive Player of the Year" in '84, Scotty finished his college career as Texas-Arlington's second all-time rusher with 3,267 yards . . . Scott Williams (6-2, 234, Georgia) was the Cardinals' ninth-round draft pick in '85 and can play tight end as well as fullback. He had four rushes for 10 yards (no pass receptions) in the '85 preseason after playing tight end most of his college career. He led the Bulldogs in total receptions (19) and was second in receiving yardage (204) his senior season ('84). As a college fullback, he did have 32 rushes for 252 yards (a 6.7 average).

RECEIVERS: Clayton Beauford (5-10, 173, Auburn) is looking for a healthy start in '86 after sitting out all of '85 on the Lions' non-football injury list. He fractured a kneecap in the '85 Senior Bowl game. Detroit's tenth-round draft choice a year ago, Beauford was recruited to Auburn as a quarterback after passing for 1,100 yards in his senior high school season at Palatka, Fla. He later was switched to receiver and caught 19 passes for 316 yards (16.6 avg.) and four TDs his senior ('84) season . . . Dwight Collins (6-2, 210, Pittsburgh) sat out '85 after being released in training camp by the Vikings. He was Minnesota's sixth-round selection in the '84 draft and played in all 16 games (one start) that season and compiled 11 catches for 143 yards (13.0 avg.) and one TD (43-yarder vs. Atlanta). Collins set school records at Pittsburgh in career receptions (121), yards (2,149) and TDs (23), and had a Panther game record of 183 yards (on six catches) against Florida State . . . Otis Grant (6-3, 206, Michigan State) was among the final players cut by the Rams in '85 training camp after a two-year stint in Los Angeles. A fifth-round choice by the Rams in '83, Otis had 21 catches for 285 yards (13.6 avg.) and one TD in his two L.A. seasons. Recruited to Michigan State by Darryl Rogers, Grant was switched from quarterback to receiver and ended his college career with 79 catches for 1,358 yards and 12 TDs . . . Tim Kearse (5-10, 182, San Jose State) played two seasons in the CFL ('83 with British Columbia, '83-'84 at Saskatchewan) after being drafted in the 11th round by the Chargers in '83. He was released in training camp by San Diego in '83 and again in '85. In college, where he was a teammate of Lions' veteran Mark Nichols, Tim set a school record with 71 catches (946 yards and 7 TDs) as a junior ('81) and had 152 receptions for 2,188 yards (14.6 avg.) and 16 TDs in his career . . . Burt Muehling (6-4, 220, Kearney State) is back in the Lions' camp after surviving late into the '85 preseason. After setting most of Kearney State's receiving records, Muehling was an AP Little All-America in '84, and was tabbed an NAIA All-America in '83 and honorable mention in '84 . . . Mike Wells (6-3, 235, San Diego State) had two previous ('84 and '85) training camp free agent stints with the 49ers. Wells was a junior college All-America (honorable mention) at the College of the Sequoias before going on to captain San Diego State.

OFFENSIVE LINEMEN: Scott Barrows (6-2, 278, West Virginia) was released late in the '85 training camp by Detroit and is back for another try at guard. A three-year letterman at West Virginia, Barrows was second-team All East in '83 and '84 . . . Dave Heffernan (6-4, 267, Miami, Fla.) was the Chiefs' second pick in the seventh round a year ago but was released before the '85 season. A two-year starter at tackle for the Miami Hurricanes, Heffernan was an honorable mention All-America by UPI in '84 . . . Farrell Wilson (6-4, 260, Arkansas State) had a free agent tryout with the Cowboys during '85 training camp. He was an All-Southland Conference tackle and honorable mention All-America in '84, and is projected to play center in the Lions' camp.

DEFENSIVE LINEMAN: Mitch Callahan (6-2, 268, Arizona State) comes to Detroit's camp after playing one year ('84) in the USFL with the Oakland Invaders (fifth-round draft pick). After a season at Phoenix (Junior) College, the nose tackle transferred to Arizona State where he lettered for two seasons and captained the '84 squad for Darryl Rogers . . . Larry Curtis (6-4, 255, Virginia Union) is a Detroit (Northwestern H.S.) native who played the '84 USFL season with the Birmingham Stallions. A 13th-round draft pick by Birmingham, injuries limited Larry's playing time to three games that year. The defensive end was an All-America in '83 at Virginia Union where he teamed for four seasons with Lions' receiver Carl Bland . . . Allen Hughes (6-3, 254, Western Michigan) is another Detroit native (Benedictine H.S.) who played three seasons in the USFL — two for the Michigan Panthers ('83 and '84) and a third with the Portland Breakers ('85). Allen was also a 12th-round pick by the Steelers in '82. The defensive end, who also can play nose tackle, was a four-year starter and two-time WMU defensive "Player of the Year" . . . Kevin Powell (6-3, 265, Youngstown State) comes to the Lions after a tryout during last preseason with the Steelers. The defensive end was a four-year letterman in football and lettered twice in wrestling at Youngstown State. . . Mike Weaver (6-1, 325, Georgia) was the Lions' 12th-round draft choice in '84 as a guard and is back in camp as a nose tackle where he played his junior season ('83) at Georgia. He did have surgery for a detached retina in the off-season that could jeopardize his return.

LINEBACKERS: Kevin Hancock (6-2, 223, Baylor) sustained a knee injury on the first day of '85 training camp that sidelined him the entire season. He was the Lions' fourth-round choice in the '85 draft and could be a major factor at inside linebacker. Kevin was a four-year letterman for Baylor and was an All-Southwest Conference pick his junior and senior seasons. He also led the Bears in tackles (105) as a junior and was second (104) his senior year . . . James Johnson (6-2, 236, San Diego State) was Detroit's third-round draft selection in '85 who spent the entire season on injured reserve with a back injury. James, who has 4.6 speed, was a two-year starter at San Diego State after a two-season stint at Orange Coast (Junior) College . . . Bernard West (6-0, 225, North Texas State) will get a shot at inside linebacker after playing primarily the outside in both the USFL and CFL. He was with Saskatchewan in the CFL from '81-'83 (where he was coached by the Lions' linebacker Coach Mike Murphy) and with the USFL Washington and Orlando franchises in '84 and '85. He was a three-year letterman at defensive end at North Texas State.

DEFENSIVE BACKS: Duane Galloway (5-8, 181, Arizona State) played the first and last games of the '85 season with the Lions and was in on nine tackles. However, he was on injured reserve for 14 weeks after breaking his arm in the season-opener at Atlanta. Duane, who can play corner or safety, played in '83 with Saskatchewan of the CFL and had a training camp tryout in '84 with the NFL Colts. Galloway was a junior college All-America (Santa Monica Junior College) in '80 before lettering two seasons at Arizona State under Darryl Rogers.

SPECIALISTS: Nick Gancitano (5-8, 182, Penn State) comes to Detroit after a brief tryout that was cut short by illness in '84 with the Packers. The soccer-style placekicker was a three-year letterman at Penn State where he set the school record for highest career field goal percentage (38-49, .776). In high school (Coral Springs, Fla.), he was an All-Stater in both football and soccer, was a state AAU wrestling champion, had a 19-0 amateur boxing record and was 9-0 in PKA kick boxing . . . Bret Wright (6-3, 200, Southwestern Louisiana), will battle for the Lions' punting chores after tryouts the past two years with the New York Jets. The Jets' second pick in the eighth round in '84, Wright was a three-year letterman at Southeastern Louisiana and set the school record with a career 42.2 average. A left-footed punter, Bret led the NCAA Division I-AA with a 44.3 average as a senior ('83).

FOUR LIONS LIKELY WILL NOT RETURN

At press time in July, the Lions already had lost one veteran to retirement, Doug English, and the club was anticipating the loss of three other key players, who like English, were contemplating retirement due to debilitating injuries. All-time Lions' leading rusher Billy Sims, who missed the last season and one-half following knee surgery in October of '84, was expected to announce his retirement this summer, as was his replacement in 1985, running back Wilbert Montgomery. Montgomery came to the Lions last August in a trade and played in seven games before a knee injury ended his season. Second-year center-guard David Jones, the team's long snapper in '84 and '85 and a starting guard in eight games a year ago, also was expected to retire due to a neck injury suffered in a game at Minnesota last Nov. 3. Ironically, it was a neck injury last Nov. 10 that ultimately ended English's career. Both Jones and English came to the Lions from the University of Texas. English retired in May following ten seasons with the Lions and four namings to the NFC Pro Bowl squad. Sims in just five Lions' season became the team's all-time leading rusher with 5,106 yards. He was named to the Pro Bowl three times. Montgomery played eight seasons with the Philadelphia Eagles before coming to Detroit. In Philadelphia, he had become the Eagles' all-time leading rusher with 6,538 yards rushing. He too was a Pro Bowl pick during his career, having been named to the post-season all-star team twice.

LIONS' MVP

Since the 1952 season, Detroit Lions' players have voted for the Lions' Most Valuable Player. From that initial MVP vote until 1966, only one Lions' player was honored per season. Since 1967, Offensive and Defensive MVPs have been honored, and since 1981 the Lions also have voted for a Special Teams' MVP. For the 1985 season, the Defensive MVP was Jimmy Williams, who led the club in quarterback sacks and had the finest season of his four-year career. For the second consecutive season, James Jones was voted the Offensive MVP after he led the Lions in both yards rushing and touchdowns scored. Alvin Hall, who became Detroit's all-time kickoff returner in 1985, was tabbed the Special Teams' MVP.

LIONS' ROOKIES

(1986 DRAFTEES)

CHUCK LONG • QUARTERBACK • IOWA
HT: 6-4 • WT: 211 • WHEATON, ILL. • D-1 (12th Overall)

With an eye toward the future and a belief that a successful football franchise starts with the quarterback position, the Detroit Lions made Iowa quarterback Chuck Long their No. 1 selection in last spring's NFL draft. Long becomes the first quarterback taken by the Lions in the initial round of the draft since Greg Landry in 1968.

A consensus All-America, Long was the 1985 Maxwell Trophy recipient which goes to the College Football Player of the Year as selected by the Maxwell Football Club of Philadelphia. He owns all the Iowa career passing records and also is the Big Ten Conference's all-time leader in passing and total offense. Long set Big Ten career records for TD passes in a game (6), season (27) and career (74) and was runner-up to Bo Jackson this past season in the closest Heisman Trophy balloting in the history of the award.

Long started for the Hawkeyes since the third game of his sophomore season (44 of his last 46 games — missed two due to injury) and threw for at least 200 yards in 27 games during his college career. His Iowa career records include: 1,203 pass attempts, 782 completions, 74 touchdowns and 10,461 yards. He also holds the Iowa single-season completion percentage mark (67.1) set in 1984.

In NCAA history, Long ranks third in career passing efficiency and sixth in passing yards. He set an NCAA record with 22 consecutive completions at Indiana ('84) and was a two-time consensus first team All-Big Ten selection.

During his banner 1985 campaign, Long led Iowa to the Big Ten Championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl. He captained the Hawkeyes as a senior and completed 260 of 388 passes (67%) for 3,297 yards and 27 touchdowns, all school records. He also completed the longest pass in Iowa history, an 89-yarder to Robert Smith against Northwestern. As a senior, Long was ranked third nationally in passing efficiency (153.0) and eighth in total offense (262.5).

As a junior, Long finished seventh in the Heisman Trophy balloting and was an Associated Press and United Press International honorable mention All-America. He was first team All-Big Ten quarterback by AP and UPI and passed for a then-school-record 2,871 yards. He also set a school record for completion percentage (67.1) and finished fifth in the nation in passing efficiency.

In the Freedom Bowl against Texas following his junior year, Long completed 29 passes out of 39 attempts for 461 yards and six touchdowns. And last January against UCLA in the Rose Bowl, Long hit on 29 of 37 passes for 319 yards and a touchdown in a losing effort.

As a sophomore, Long garnered All-Big Ten AP and UPI honors, was honorable mention All-America and finished second in the nation in passing efficiency. As a freshman in '82 (he did play in '81 but didn't register enough playing time for it to be considered a year of collegiate eligibility), he set then-Iowa records for season completion percentage (65.2) and consecutive completions (11, in the Peach Bowl). He set Peach Bowl records for yards passing (304), total offense (306) and tied the mark for touchdown passes (three).

During his career at Iowa, the Hawkeyes were 33-12-1 (.730) in games that Long started.

Long was a seven-letter winner in football, baseball and basketball at North High School in Wheaton, Ill., and captained the football and baseball teams as a senior. He was a first-team all-state quarterback as a senior, played forward in basketball and every position but catcher on the high school baseball team. He was born Feb. 18, 1963, in Norman, Okla.

GARRY JAMES • RUNNING BACK • LOUISIANA STATE
HT: 5-10 • WT: 204 • GRETNA, LA • D-2 (29th Overall)

Blazing speed characterizes Garry James, who may become the heir apparent to the Lions' Billy Sims, whose brilliant career may be over due to a 1984 knee injury. James has been clocked in 4.49 seconds in the 40-yard dash and is expected to give the Lions the sorely-needed outside running threat that has been lacking since Sims was lost.

Detroit switched second-round picks with San Francisco (which picked second in the round) to assure the selection of James. The Lions traded their first of two third-round choices to the 49ers to complete the deal.

James enjoyed a sparkling career at LSU with 3,211 total yards. He is the Tigers' fourth-leading career rusher with 2,217 yards and is one of only five LSU backs to rush for over 2,000 yards. He teamed with running back Dalton Hilliard to account for more career rushing and receiving yardage (8,394 total yards) than any backfield tandem in Southeastern Conference history. Though tabbed to take advantage of his outside running talent, Garry also will help Detroit with his pass catching ability. He led LSU with 50 catches for 414 yards in '85, and was the second-leading receiver in the SEC with 4.5 catches per game.

Additionally, James could be a plus in kickoff returns after logging 27 career returns for 569 yards and a 21.1 yard average in college. Among his single-game highlights was a 166-yard rushing outburst against Tulane in 1982 (in all he rushed for over 100 yards in a game four times), and he twice caught eight passes in a game — against North Carolina (for 72 yards) and Florida (for 64 yards) in '85. He's also a threat on the option and had a 23-yard TD toss in '82.

LSU inked Garry after a standout senior season at Harvey West Jefferson High School (Gretna, La.) when he rushed for 1,510 yards, scored 24 TDs and was chosen the MVP offensive player on the 1981 Louisiana Schoolboy All-Quad-A Team. James, who was the MVP in the East-West Shrine Game following his LSU career, was born Sept. 4, 1963.

JOE MILINICHIK • TACKLE • NORTH CAROLINA STATE
HT: 6-5 • WT: 300 • MACUNGIE, PA • D-3 (70th Overall)

Wide bodies are what Lions' offensive line Coach Bill Muir wants in the trenches, and that's what Detroit got with the third-round drafting of huge Joe Milinichik. The big lineman is a fifth-year senior who follows in the mold of last year's top two draft picks, Lomas Brown and Kevin Glover, who were selected to help fortify an interior wall that has been plagued by injuries in recent seasons.

A powerful and mobile athlete, Milinichik (pronounced MAH-LYNN-CHECK) was a four-year starter at North Carolina State, and was an All-Atlantic Coast Conference pick his junior (1984) and senior (1985) seasons. He also was selected an AP and UPI All-America (honorable mention) last fall. His versatility and strength (he bench presses 535 pounds) will be pluses to the Lions, and he can play either guard or tackle, as well as being a long snapper.

Milinichik concluded his collegiate career by playing in the Hula, Senior and Blue-Gray Bowl games. Now that he's a Lion, he'll carry on a North Carolina State tradition in Detroit. Lions' veteran guard-tackle Chris Dieterich played for the Wolfpack as did Director of Player Personnel Joe Bushofsky. Additionally, Milinichik is a native of Macungie, Pa., as is the Lions' offensive captain Keith Dorney, and — like Dorney — he attended Emmaus High School in Allentown.

Milnichik continued

While in high school, the versatile Milnichik was a three-year letterman as an offensive and defensive tackle, nose guard and kicker, and was a star pitcher on the baseball team that won the state championship in 1978. Joe earned a degree in Vocational Industrial Education last spring and is married to the former Kathy Anderson of High Point, N.C. He was born Mar. 30, 1963, in Allentown and his full name is Joseph Michael Milnichik.

DEVON MITCHELL • SAFETY • IOWA
HT: 6-1 • WT: 194 • BROOKLYN, N.Y. • D-4 (92nd Overall)

During pre-draft interviews, Darryl Rogers said he would draft the best football player available and never was this philosophy more evident than Lions' fourth-round selection Devon Mitchell. A cornerback at Iowa, Mitchell is projected as a free safety by the Lions' staff. Detroit coaches were attracted to the former Hawkeye because of his speed and athletic ability. It was Mitchell's athletic ability that convinced him to walk-on at Iowa, where he earned a starting position as a freshman and for the remainder of his collegiate career.

His 18 career interceptions tied the school record held by Nile Kinnick, the 1939 Heisman Trophy winner. As a senior, Mitchell earned honorable mention All-America honors from AP. As a sophomore, Devon started at free safety the last ten games of the season and intercepted two passes in the Gator Bowl against Florida.

He was born Dec. 30, 1962, in Kingston, Jamaica. Devon attended Tilden High School in Brooklyn, N.Y., where he played baseball and was an all-city performer in football.

OSCAR SMITH • RUNNING BACK • NICHOLLS STATE
HT: 5-9 • WT: 203 • TAMPA, FL • D-5 (119th Overall)

The Lions hope they uncovered a gem in the fifth round with the selection of Oscar Smith, who could help Detroit at running back and as a return specialist. Smith left Nicholls State, located in Thibodaux, La., after a senior season that harvested several records. He became the Colonels' all-time leading rusher (2,482 yards) and scorer (210 points). Smith set a single-season mark in rushing (947 yards in 1985) and was ranked 19th in the NCAA Division I-AA in that category after leading the nation the first two weeks of the year.

A hard-hitting fireplug with tremendous upper body strength (he can bench press 405 pounds), Oscar may become a key member on the Lions' special teams. He averaged 28.4 yards per kickoff return in his career and was ranked nationally (Div. I-AA) in both 1982 and 1984. He had an 81-yard kickoff return for a TD as a freshman in '81. A four-year starter who sat out the 1983 season, Smith compiled 4,302 all-purpose yards in his career. He was born April 5, 1963.

ALLYN GRIFFIN • WIDE RECEIVER • WYOMING
HT: 6-2 • WT: 189 • CASPER, WY • D-8 (205th Overall)

A Detroit Lions' receiving corps which has been battered by injuries may have received a boost with the eight-round tabbing of Allyn Griffin. The Casper, Wyo., native led the Cowboys in receiving his junior and senior seasons and was a second-team All-Western Athletic Conference (WAC) pick in '85.

Timed in 4.53 for 40 yards by Lions' scouts, Allyn has the knack to get deep and catch the long ball and seems to save his best games for the toughest competition. He had an 88-yard TD reception in the Cowboys' 1984 victory over powerful Air Force and had nine catches for 133 yards and a TD in '85 against Utah. Griffin's statistics are even more impressive considering Wyoming employed a wishbone offense, not normally a pass-oriented attack. A redshirt in '82, Griffin completed his college career by playing in the Senior Bowl. He attended Kelly Walsh High School in Casper where he lettered in football, basketball and track. He was born July 4, 1963.

LYLE PICKENS • CORNERBACK • COLORADO
HT: 5-10 • WT: 165 • RESEDA, CA • D-9 (231st Overall)

After opting for Devon Mitchell in the fourth round, Lions' Assistant Coach Willie Shaw's secondary got another boost when the ninth round brought Colorado cornerback Lyle Pickens.

Clocked as fast as 4.37 seconds in the 40-yard dash, Lyle led the Buffaloes in pass interceptions (three) and deflections (20) in 1985. His biggest pass theft came in the final minute of the game to douse an Arizona rally in a 14-13 Colorado win. He capped 1985 by earning his school's Van Ek Award for academic and athletic excellence.

As many as 46 major schools offered Pickens scholarships after a standout two-year junior college football career. He was an All-California JC pick in '83 at Los Angeles Valley Junior College when he participated in 79 tackles, had four pass interceptions and was considered the top defensive back on a team that delivered six DBs to major schools.

Pickens prepped at Birmingham High School in Van Nuys, Calif., where he was a three-year letterman in football and where he also coached the girls' track team. As a schoolboy, Lyle was all-league two years in football and was the Los Angeles city track champion in the 400 meters. Pickens was born Sept. 5, 1964, in New Orleans.

TRACY JOHNSON • LINEBACKER • MORNINGSIDE
HT: 6-1 • WT: 244 • OMAHA, NEB. • D-10 (258th Overall)

While the larger, more prestigious University of Iowa was capturing the Lions' draft limelight, tiny Morningside College (1,400 enrollment) of Sioux City, Iowa, took center stage when Detroit made its tenth round selection of Tracy Johnson.

An All-North Central Conference (1985) outside linebacker in the Chiefs' "52" defense, Johnson projects as an inside 'backer for the Lions. The Omaha native was a two-year starter for Coach Erv Mondt's club after seeing limited duty his first two seasons. He participated in 60 total tackles and had 12 quarterback sacks as a junior (1984) and followed that performance with a stand-out senior campaign that included 85 total tackles and nine sacks. Johnson helped lead the Chiefs to the school's most successful season in the past 30 years. Morningside went 6-5 in '84 and 7-3-1 last year — the first back-to-back winning seasons at the Sioux City school since 1956-57.

Johnson earned all-state schoolboy honors at Omaha Gross High School. He was born April 3, 1962.

LELAND MELVIN • WIDE RECEIVER • RICHMOND
HT: 5-11 • WT: 175 • LYNCHBURG, VA • D-11 (290th Overall)

If it's possible to capture a "total package" player in the 11th round, the Lions may have plucked a prize in Richmond's Leland Melvin. The fastest player on the Richmond squad with 4.5 speed in the 40-yard dash, Melvin set Spiders' records in both career (198) and single-season (65) pass receptions. In fact, he broke the single-season mark of former Richmond All-America Walker Gillette with 60 catches in 1984, followed by a 65-reception senior campaign, which ranked him 12th in NCAA Division I-AA.

As brilliant as Melvin was on the field, he may have been more impressive off of it. A chemical engineering major, he was nominated this year for a Rhodes Scholarship, was an Academic All-America, and he earned several Richmond awards recognizing his activities in the classroom and in the community.

Leland also was a member of the College Senate and the captain of the college's Fellowship of Christian Athletes. At Lynchburg Heritage High School, he lettered in football, tennis and basketball, was a two-time MVP in tennis, and captained the tennis and football squads. He was born Feb. 15, 1964.

ALLEN DURDEN • SAFETY • ARIZONA
HT: 5-11 • WT: 167 • LA MESA, CA • D-12 (317th Overall)

The Lions' final '86 draft selection was Allen Durden, the heady safety from Arizona. A three-year starter for the Wildcats, Durden capped a fine senior year by being named to the Football News and Walter Camp first-team All-America squads. He also was first-team All-Pac-10 his junior and senior seasons and led the PAC-10 in total interceptions (12) over the past two years.

What makes this choice even more attractive is that the Lions' coaching staff was very familiar with Durden, since Head Coach Darryl Rogers and five of his assistants came to Detroit from Arizona State prior to the '85 NFL season. Another positive factor is that Durden comes from a football family. His father, Earnel Durden, is the offensive backfield coach of the San Diego Chargers.

Recruited out of Helix High School in La Mesa, Calif., where he lettered in football, basketball and track, Durden was switched to the defensive secondary during his freshman year. He was all-league in all three sports in high school and schoolboy All-America in football. He was born Nov. 25, 1963.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE DETROIT LIONS

The Detroit Lions move into their 53rd season in 1986, rejuvenated by a coaching staff that pumped new life into the club in 1985. Head Coach Darryl Rogers and his staff guided the Lions to seven victories a year ago despite an onslaught of injuries to key personnel (13 starters missed a total of 91 games). Moderate success despite the injury adversity kindled new hope for a franchise that has had a long and successful association with the Detroit area as its National Football League representative.

Detroit welcomed the Lions in 1934, but it was not the area's first look at professional football.

In 1920, the Detroit Heralds were a charter member of the American Professional Football Association, which was the original name of the present NFL. But the club folded after two years. Then, the Detroit Panthers appeared in 1925. They also folded after two seasons. In 1928, the Detroit Wolverines were formed, but they failed after just one year.

In 1930, the then ten-year-old National Football League added a franchise from Portsmouth, Ohio, called the Spartans. After four seasons, the team was purchased for less than $8,000 by Detroit radio executive George A. Richards and moved to the Motor City.

Playing in the University of Detroit Stadium before average crowds of 16,000 people, the new Detroit Lions won the NFL Championship in their second year, 1935. Under the leadership of Coach "Potsy" Clark and stars like Hall of Famer "Dutch" Clark, Ernie Caddel, George Christensen, "Ace" Gutowsky, Glenn Presnell and "Ox" Emerson, the early Lions established pro football in Detroit. For more than 50 years they have been an integral part of the Michigan sports scene.

In 1940, Chicagoan Fred Mandel bought the club. Lions' stars of that era were Hall of Famers Bill Dudley and Alex Wojciechowicz, John Greene, "Whizzer" White, Frank Sinkwich and "Camp" Wilson. The team was sold eight years later, to a group of local businessmen under the leadership of Edwin J. Anderson. The Detroit syndicate controlled the club until 1964 when William Clay Ford became sole owner for a price of $4.5 million.

The Lions dominated the NFL in the 1950s with four division titles and three League championships. Under Head Coach Buddy Parker, the team won back-to-back world crowns in 1952 and 1953, defeating Cleveland in both title games. Stars of those glittering teams were Hall of Famers Bobby Layne and Jack Christiansen, along with Doak Walker, Les Bingaman, Cloyce Box, Leon Hart and Bob Hoernschemeyer. The Detroit-Cleveland battles of the era were classic confrontations between two giants of the blossoming NFL.

Since their last title in 1957 under the coaching of George Wilson, the Lions have been looking in vain for the top spot. Such recent performers as Joe Schmidt, Yale Lary and "Night Train" Lane have been elected to the Hall of Fame. Outstanding players like Wayne Walker, Mike Lucci, Nick Pietrosante, Roger Brown, Terry Barr, Lem Barney, Charlie Sanders and Dexter Bussey have taken their places in the annals of pro football in Detroit.

In 1967, Schmidt began the first of six seasons as head coach of the Lions. His 1970 team made the post-season playoffs, but lost in the first round to Dallas by the baseball—like score of 5-0.

Just prior to the 1975 season, the Lions moved into a new, domed stadium in Pontiac, Michigan, a town of 85,000 people located 30 miles north of Detroit. The Silverdome is the world's largest air-supported domed structure and seats over 80,000 spectators under a fiber glass roof.

Monte Clark took control of all football operations as head coach in 1978. Under Clark's direction, the Lions narrowly missed playoff berths in both 1980 and 1981, before finally qualifying in 1982—the first time the Lions made the playoffs since 1970. Detroit captured the NFC Central Division crown in 1983 but stumbled in the first round of the playoffs with a 24-23 loss to San Francisco. Clark was released after the Lions fell to 4-11-1 in 1984.

Rogers was named the Lions' 16th head coach in the franchise's history on Feb. 6, 1985. With a year's experience for Rogers and his staff in Detroit and the hope that the club's injury glut is in the past, the Lions' seek to return to NFL prominence and an elusive Super Bowl Berth.

THE PONTIAC SILVERDOME

The Pontiac Silverdome has been "Home Sweet Home" for the Detroit Lions since the last brick was put in place in 1975. During those 11 years the building has earned a reputation as one of the finest sports facilities in the world. Not even a freak, late-winter snowstorm on Mar. 4, 1985, which caused extensive structural damage to the roof, could keep the Silverdome from maintaining its enviable stature in the sports world. A new canvas and steel-girder reinforced roof was added between March and June of 1985.

Since a 27-24 pre-season game victory over the Kansas City Chiefs on Aug. 23, 1975, the Lions have played 106 games in the Silverdome after moving from their former home at Tiger Stadium (nee Briggs Stadium) in downtown Detroit. The Lions have posted a 63-41-2 overall record in Pontiac, including a 50-31-1 mark in regular-season games (a .616 winning percentage).

Though the Silverdome is the Lions' home, the Cincinnati Bengals and the San Francisco 49ers made NFL history in the building on Jan. 24, 1982. The 49ers defeated the Bengals, 26-21, before a crowd of 81,270 in Super Bowl XVI — the only Super Bowl ever played in a northern U.S. city.

The Silverdome, which also is the home of the NBA Detroit Pistons, was built at a cost of $55.7 million. It was occupied in just 23 months, on time and within budget, from its ground breaking on Sept. 19, 1973. During the roof's reconstruction a year ago, the Teflon-coated fiber glass panels (100 in all) that span the roof were completely replaced, and several structural modifications and safety improvements also were accomplished. The roof was re-inflated by workmen on May 30, 1985.

LIMITED INSTANT REPLAY SYSTEM TO BE USED IN 1986

At the NFL Annual Meeting in March 1986, the clubs adopted (by a 23-4-1 vote) a one-year system of limited Instant Replay of officiating calls for 1986.

The NFL has discussed Instant Replay in some degree or other since the early 1970s. The League experimented in 1976 and 1978 using two basic frameworks—an independent system using cameras, replay machines, and technicians separate from the network covering the game, and a "no frills" approach using existing television coverage.

In 1985, the NFL used the network feed of nine nationally televised preseason games to experiment with the basic system that later was adopted for 1986. A total of 28 plays were examined closely (17 confirmed call, 4 were inconclusive, 1 was reversed, and 6 had no replay shown).

What is the objective of this system?

The clubs feel that on certain plays the telecast viewed by the general public should be used to correct an indisputable error. The system will be used to reverse an on-field decision only when the Replay Official has indisputable visual evidence available to him that warrants the change.

Is the television network carrying the game part of the review process?

No. Although the Replay Official will be viewing the live network feed, there is no communication to television personnel as to what plays to show or not to show.

What is the step-by-step procedure of a play review?

The Replay Official will view game action and a play will be replayed immediately on one of the two monitors, while the other monitor continues to record the live feed.

The Replay Official makes a determination if further study of the play is needed. If not, there is no contact with the field and play continues.

If the Replay Official believes an error may have been made, the Umpire will be contacted (via a paging device worn at the beltline), and he then will use a walkie-talkie for further communication with the Replay Official.

The Replay Official will watch replay(s) on one or both monitors and complete his review within a reasonable period (probably 15-20 seconds) after the play is over. (If there is a time out, the Replay Official would not be restricted to the 15-20-second period.)

The Replay Official will inform the Umpire of his decision, and the Referee will make the appropriate announcement on the wireless microphone.

The limited Instant Replay system concentrates on plays of possession or touching (e.g., fumbles, receptions, interceptions, muffs) and most plays governed by the sidelines, goal lines, end lines, and line of scrimmage (e.g., receiver or runner in or out of bounds, forward or backward passes, breaking the plane of the goal line).

However, the Instant Replay system will not include the following fouls: clipping; encroachment and offsides; grasp of facemask; false start; defensive pass interference; offensive pass interference; offensive holding and illegal use of hands; illegal batting or punching ball; illegal block on free kick or scrimmage kick; illegal crackback; illegal motion; illegal use of forearm or elbow; illegal use of hands by defense; illegally kicking the ball; illegally snapping the ball; intentional grounding; member of the punting team downfield early; illegal formation; palpably unfair act; piling on; roughing the passer; running into or roughing the kicker; striking, kicking, or kneeing; unnecessary roughness; unsportsmanlike conduct; and use of the helmet as a weapon.
